JOHNSON THROWS ANTI-JAP CONTEST ON UNITED STATES

California Executive Signs Alien Land Bill and United States and Japan Begin a Diplomatic Battle.

UNITED STATES' REPLY DELIVERED TO JAPAN

Both Governments Agree to Withhold Correspondence From the Public—National Pride of Japan Deeply Hurt.

Washington, May 19.—Secretary Bryan late today handed Ambassador Chinda the reply of the United States government to the Japanese protest against the California alien land legislation. The ambassador immediately cabled it to Tokio. No intimation as to the nature of the reply was given out.

Upon learning through press dispatches that Governor Johnson had signed the Webb land act, Secretary Bryan telephoned Viscount Chinda and invited him to come to the state department to receive the reply which he had been anxiously awaiting since the presentation of his own note, May 9.

Bryan and Chinda Confer.

When the answer had been delivered, the secretary and the ambassador conferred earnestly for an hour regarding the general aspect of the problem. Of course opinions expressed were tentative, as for his part the ambassador felt that he must be guided entirely by the directions of the foreign office at Tokio, and he could only surmise what might be the attitude of the officials at home. Meanwhile it was understood that both the Japanese protest and the state department's answer would be withheld from publication for the present at least, on the ground that it would be injudicious to submit the delicate questions at issue to heated discussion in the newspapers and at possible mass meetings. The negotiations between the two governments are expected to proceed in regular fashion, without further reference to what takes place in California.

Viscount Chinda dispatched the state department's reply to his government, and it is assumed that several days may elapse before the next step is taken.

In view of the understanding between the two governments regarding withholding of the correspondence from publicity none of the officials at the white house, the state department or the Japanese embassy cared to indicate the nature of the Japanese objections or of Secretary Bryan's reply.

Real Weight of Objection.

From other sources, however, it was gathered that while the Japanese allege technical violations of the treaty *of 1911 by the California law these re*late to minor provisions, such as that prohibiting Japanese from inheriting property in California. The real weight of objection is against the spirit of the whole legislation, which is regarded as distinctly discriminatory against the Japanese. The spirit of the convention as well as the general principles of international law are regarded by Japan as outraged by this act. The fact that the United States has entered into treaty relations with Japan is cited as an admission of equality.

In his answer Secretary Bryan is understood to have recounted at length *efforts made by the administra*tion to guard against an infringement of the treaty rights of the Japanese. Officials here believe that this substantially has been accomplished and that at any rate, if the Japanese government takes a contrary view, it will be an easy matter for it to test the matter in American courts. This is pointed out to seem to remove the issue from one of treaty construction, if the state department's view is correct, to the broad field of international law.

Japan's Pride Hurt.

It is realized here that the Japanese government is not much concerned about the exclusion of its subjects from America, for they are much needed in Manchuria, Corea and Formosa. Underlying the whole objection, it is said, is the intense national pride of the Japanese, which has been touched to the quick by the general development of anti-Japanese feeling on the Pacific coast. Official circles realize that the negotiations from this point forward must be conducted with extreme caution, but there is a general conviction that an amicable solution of the problems involved eventually will be reached.

Secretary Bryan said today he had not communicated with Governor *Johnson since the receipt of the gov*ernor's long message explaining his

POLICE BOARD ROW AIRED IN COUNCIL BY NEW ORDINANCE

Alderman Nutting Seeks to Give Heads of Departments Right to Nominate Their Assistants.

MAYOR PRO TEM. COMES TO DEFENE OF BOARDS

Nutting Wanted Nominating Right Given to All Heads of Department—Ordinance Goes to Committee.

The split in the police board over the right of Chief James L. Beavers to name his subordinate, was aired in council yesterday afternoon, when Alderman James R. Nutting attempted to put through an ordinance vesting the heads of every city department with authority to nominate assistants.

The measure was vigorously resisted by supporters of members of the various boards, on the ground that it would, if adopted, make more figureheads of the administrative heads.

Mayor pro tem James E. Warren rushed to the defense of the board. Surrendering his seat as presiding officer to Alderman J. A. Harwell, he took the floor and charged Alderman

HINDOO PHILOSOPHY TAUGHT AT THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY CHARGES MINORITY REPORT

Sensation Created by the Remarks of Dr. F. C. Monfort in Scoring the Faculty of the Union Theological Seminary Before the Northern Assembly.

SAYS TEACHERS OPPOSE INSPIRATION OF BIBLE AND THE RESURRECTION

Charges Are Also Made That Pantheism Is Taught at the Institution—Dr. John R. Davies, of Philadelphia, Makes Similar Charges Against the Graduates.

When charges of "pantheism" and "Hindoo philosophy" were hurled Monday afternoon at the Union Theological seminary—one of the oldest and wealthiest of America's Christian schools of theology—a sensation was sprung in the assembly of the U. S. A. Presbyterian church that has seen few parallels in the history of denominational conventions.

A gray-haired man stood upon the stage, and his hand shook and his body was tense with emotion as he uttered his scathing attack on the seminary. He was Dr. F. C. Monfort, one of the most influential editors of the Northern Presbyterian church—being editor of The Herald and Presbyter, of Cincinnati.

Dr. Monfort had been given the floor to present his minority report, differing with the report of the Union Theological seminary committee, which had just been given by Dr. David G. Wylie, of New York city. Telling in detail the necessity for making a minority report, Dr. Monfort outlined his charges against the seminary, and half a dozen times during his address applause broke forth from the crowded audience.

Assembly Dazed by Charge.

Just at the close of his address Dr. Monfort drew himself up to his full height and declared, "Here is a Hindoo philosophy in a modern theological school—shall we allow this to continue?"

For a moment the throng of Presbyterian commissioners seemed dazed at the suddenness of the charge, and as Dr. Monfort brought his words to an end there was a stillness, as folks just looked at each other in amazement. But as the veteran of many assemblies turned to leave the platform the whole audience broke into thunderous applause, and Moderator John Timothy Stone pounded on his gavel thirteen times before he succeeded in getting the assembly quiet.

Prior to his final charge of "Hindooism," Dr. Monfort had declared that the teachings of the seminary were opposed in many respects to the belief of the Presbyterian church, and that preachers are being turned out who do not believe in the inspiration of the Bible or the resurrection of Jesus Christ.

Don't Believe Resurrection.

Dr. John R. Davies, of Philadelphia, who presented minority report No. 1 before the assembly, made the same charge as Dr. Monfort as to the belief of many graduates. He said that the presbytery of New York, and other presbyteries had licensed and ordained graduates of the Union Theological seminary who did not believe in the infallibility of the Bible or the resurrection.

These three reports which were presented Monday afternoon will form the basis of one of the most intense discussions of the 1913 assembly when the subject is thrown open for debate at 11 a. m.

Dr. Wylie, pastor of the famous Scotch church, in New York, in presenting the majority report, asked that the committee be continued until 1914, for a final report then. Dr. Davies, who presented the minority report of himself, together with E. H. Perkins,

WOMEN DECLARE PHAGAN MURDER MUST BE SOLVED

"Freedom of Murderer Is a Menace to Honor and Life of Every Woman," Writes Mrs. James Carr.

Optimistic over the prospects for solving the Mary Phagan mystery, C. W. Tobie, chief of the William J. Burns criminal department, told a reporter for The Constitution yesterday morning that he was confident the girl's murderer would be apprehended and convicted in a surprisingly short while.

"What if Mary Phagan were your child?" is the subject of an eloquent plea made to the women of Atlanta by Mrs. Jane F. Carr for the apprehension of the slayer. Women of all walks of life and classes are uniting in one combined effort to assist in the investigation.

Mrs. Carr's plea is an apt illustration of the widespread sentiment felt by the women of the city. It will be recalled that six prominent women advanced the suggestion to Attorney Felder that Detective Burns be em-

VESUVIUS IS TORN BY OWN TORPEDO

Dynamite Cruiser Launches Whitehead Missile, But It Returns Like Boomerang. Beached to Save Crew.

Newport, R. I., May 19.—The torpedo boat Vesuvius was struck by one of its own torpedoes late today and was beached on Hope Island, Narragansett Bay, when the lives of those on board seemed imperiled by the water which rushed in through a hole astern.

The beaching of the Vesuvius was safely accomplished by Chief Gunner Thomas Smith, the commanding officer. Besides the regular crew, fifty seamen gunners were on board.

Late tonight the Vesuvius worked herself off the beach and proceeded to the torpedo station under her own steam.

The Vesuvius, which as a dynamite cruiser was famous as one of the first vessels of the "new navy," was being used for torpedo instruction in Narragansett Bay. As a practice Whitehead torpedo left her side the mechanism went awry in some manner not yet determined. The torpedo turned like a boomerang and crashed into the Vesuvius astern below the water line, gashing a two-inch hole. Hammocks, blankets and other material were used in trying to patch up the hole. But the Vesuvius began to settle astern and a call for help was sent out by wireless.

Smith ordered full speed towards Hope Island, two miles away. All pumps were kept working until the Vesuvius ran her nose on the beach of Hope Island. The crew massed in the bow, out of reach of the water while the wireless operator notified the torpedo station. Soon the fleet from the torpedo station ranged alongside the Vesuvius. Naval tugs and other craft stood by during the night. The Vesuvius became noted for its work during the war with Spain. Off Santiago she threw dynamite into the Spanish trenches and it became a saying among the sailors that "when the Vesuvius coughs, there's always an eruption ashore."

HUSBAND KILLS WIFE FOR SEEKING DIVORCE

Crazed by Jealousy Walker Cuts Mrs. Walker's Throat in Presence of Two Men.

Newport News, Va., May 19.—Matthew Gary and his son, Matthew Gary, Jr., of Binns Hall, Va., stood nearby and saw Newell Walker, a well known young man of that place crazed by jealousy, cut his wife's throat with a razor. Then walked oer to the two men, talked with them a few moments, walked to the home of the sheriff and gave himself up.

Mrs. Walker was on her way to visit Mrs. Gary when the tragedy occurred. A hundred yards from the house Walker, whom she left recently after having him baled to court and put under a peace bond, approached and spoke to her.

Then the Gary's, who stood only a few feet away saw Walker draw a razor from his pocket and slash her across the throat. The woman fell to the ground and Walker, dropping the bloody razor, walked over to the two men and entered into conversation with them. He gave no reason for his deed but it is said that he had become crazed by the fact that his wife was suing him for a divorce.

It was about two o'clock Sunday afternoon that Mrs. Walker left home to go half a mile across the meadow to the Gary home. Apparently she was not expecting any trouble for she did not turn away when Walker approached. Walker overtook his wife when she was 100 yards from the house and words ensued. After they had talked a few minutes the husband suddenly sprang at her cutting her throat as he did so, nearly severing the head from the body.

To Pension Preachers.

Decatur, Ill., May 19.—The general conference of the United Brethren church today adopted the report of the committee on ministerial relief, creating a preachers' pension bureau. Ministers who have been in service for at least five years, their widows and orphans, will be eligible to benefits. The presiding elder will be known in the future as the conference superintendent.

SOUTHERN CHURCH OPPOSED TO UNION

Assembly Decides Time Is Not Yet Ripe, in Turning Down Overtures From Reform Churches.

By acclamation and seemingly without a dissenting vote, the general assembly of the Southern Presbyterian church, at the afternoon session yesterday in the North Avenue Presbyterian church, declined to consider the question of union with any other of the ecclesiastical bodies in the United States having the Presbyterian system except the United Presbyterian, with which negotiations looking to union had already been entered into.

This action came in the way of the adoption of the report of the committee to which the overtures looking to union had been referred of which committee Dr. R. F. Campbell was chairman. The report follows:

"Report of special committee on overtures 33 to 36 touching closer relations with other Presbyterian bodies.

Report on Union.

"The committee to which were referred the overtures from the presbyteries of Dallas, Central Texas, Nashville and upper Missouri, asking that an ad interim committee be appointed by the assembly and that the assemblies of other reformed churches holding the Presbyterian system in this country be requested to appoint similar committees which shal confer on the feasibility of a plan of closer relations between these churches would recommend the following answer:

"In view of the negotiations now pending between this assembly and the United Presbyterian church touching organic union of the two bodies this assembly deems this an inopportune time to raise the question of closer relations with other bodies."

There was no discussion of the report as there seemed to be no difference of opinion in regard to it, but after its adoption Dr. Sartell Prentiss, of New York, representing the Reformed church of the United States.

MAJOR HALLOCK OBEYS IMPULSE TO KILL SELF

Hot Springs, Ark., May 19.—"I have been fighting melancholia for weeks, and an impulse to kill myself and family."

This note, found in the desk of Major H. A. Hallock, United States army officer, retired, assigned as medical director of the hot water baths on the government reservation here, led to a search late today which ended with the finding of Major Hallock's body in the woods near Hot Springs, the top of his head torn away by a bullet from a large caliber army revolver. The pistol was found a short distance from the body.

Major Hallock had been in ill health, and recently underwent an operation. He had held the post of medical director here for three years. He is survived by a widow and two children.

APPROVE GRADE FOR WHITEHALL

With But One Vote in Negative Council Adpoted Resolution of Street Committee Monday Afternoon.

Council approved the Whitehall grading project yesterday afternoon when it adopted the resolution of the street committee fixing the grades for Whitehall and the intersecting crossings.

Councilman Orville H. Hall, chairman of the street committee, who has given considerable attention to the project, made a strong plea urging council to approve the improvement so that work will not be delayed.

Although the work will cost in the neighborhood of $130,000, to be paid in three years, council has been asked to favor the apportionment of only $47,248 in the June sheet, to pay the city's share. The work will start in October if the finance committee carries out the recommendations of council and the street committee.

The project has more support in the general council than any other similar improvement taken up in years. Only one member protested. Councilman Claude C. Mason called attention to the fact that more than 50 per cent of the frontage on Whitehall favors the improvement, and have waived claims for damages. Alderman James R. Nutting said that council should give unanimous approved to the work. Judge John S. Candler said that he favors the project.

Other members of council who vigorously opposed delaying the work were Councilmen Smith, Greer and Mason and Aldermen Maddox and Ragsdale.

The second and third ward clubs have had the work in hand for about four years. To the committee is due the major part of the credit of working out what has been a difficult task.

C. F. VON HERRMANN, Section Director.

a well-known Presbyterian elder of Baltimore, asked that the special committee be dismissed, under the decision that a resumption of relations between the U. S. A. assembly and the seminary is impossible under present conditions.

So interested was the assembly in the question that the time of adjournment was postponed till 6 o'clock Monday afternoon in order to give opportunity of an immediate defense to the president of the seminary—Dr. Francis Brown. He denied the charges of rationalism and Hindooism, and said that the seminary is conforming strictly to Christian and evangelical beliefs in teaching.

He called attention at the outset of his address to the fact that the Union Theological seminary has not been called by the assembly to the bar to defend itself, as some people have gathered from the charges. There has been no official connection between the seminary and the general assembly for a number of years, though the institution was originally founded in 1836 by Presbyterian men and money and so continued until 1890. On account of so-called "lax theology" relations were broken off then.

The present committee was appointed in 1911 to confer with the directors and faculty of the seminary with a view of resuming relations. The majority report of the committee tells of a proposition to receive a visitor to the seminary of instruction in Presbyterian doctrine, but this was so far as the committee had gotten toward a reconciliation.

"I want to emphasize the fact that this is not a Presbyterian seminary," said President Brown. "Union Theological seminary is a religious institution, founded and maintained at the present time for the teaching of the ministry of Jesus Christ. We have many Methodists and Baptists in the institution, and we make no avowal of conforming to the Presbyterian faith. We have entered into this matter merely through the invitation of the assembly to a conference on the harmonizing of our relations, and we are not here in order to defend ourselves in a trial before this body."

When the subject came up as the special order of the day at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning the addresses will be limited to ten minutes each. While the discussion will be primarily on the three reports, as to which shall be followed, it is expected that there will be many brilliant speeches in defense of the seminary, or attacking it.

Dr. William Adams Brown, whose writings are quoted in Dr. Monfort's report as proof of heretical belief, is a commissioner to the assembly, and will probably make an address Tuesday. Dr. William Sloan Coffin is said to be a staunch defender of the seminary, and will also speak. The vote will be in order at 12:20 o'clock, the first vote being on the minority report of Dr. Monfort, the second on the minority report of Dr. Davies and the third on the majority report. Dr. Monfort's report, being the most radical of the three, and calling for a retraction of many of the seminary practices, will be the test vote showing the line-up.

Education Committee Reports.

Presenting the report of the special educational committee, Dr. John Willis Baer, president of Occidental college, Los Angeles, made an interesting address at the afternoon session Monday. He made a plea for more adequate salaries in the Presyterian universities. He was followed with addresses by Dr. Richard C. Hughes, head of the university work of the board of education of the U. S. A. church, and Dr. Joseph W. Cochran, secretary of the board, who told of the rapid extension work being accomplished.

After a few minutes' lively discussion as to whether Sunday study were necessary or not in schools where there were recitations on Monday, the assembly decided by vote Monday afternoon to recommend that wherever possible the work be lighter on Monday. This debate was brought up by an amendment to the Sabbath observance report of Saturday. The report recommended that Monday be the holiday, or the half-holiday, wherever schools could so arrange, and the amendment striking out this clause was offered by Dr. C. A. R. Janvier, of Philadelphia.

Dr. Janvier made a strong speech in which he declared that Sunday study is not necessary—that boys could get up at 5 o'clock in the morning to prepare their Monday's recitations, as he did when in college. Dr. Janvier leaves within a few days to become the head of a missionary university at Allahabad, Ind.

$50,000 IS ASKED FOR STREET WORK

Councilman Hall Wants Finance Committee to Provide Money for Improvements in the June Sheet.

Councilman Orville H. Hall, chairman of the street committee, offered a resolution in council, yesterday urging that the finance committee provide $50,000 in the June sheet for street improvements.

Chairman Hall says that the finance committee will be looked to to aid in improving the condition of the streets. The city has started well with the fund provided in January. In addition to the two mixing plants to work in every section of the city, the committee has purchased a truck which is aiding materially in getting asphalt to the jobs.

Councilman Thomas I. Lynch, chairman of the prison committee, has asked the finance committee to make an additional appropriation of $1,500 to feed the prisoners at the city stockade.

Councilman Lynch, after inspecting the food furnished the prisoners in the lockups, declared that he did not believe it to be sufficient. He said that he realized that the officials were doing the best they could with the money allowed for the purpose, but he believes the prisoners should get better food, especially those who are sent out on the works.

BOND COMMITTEE WILL BE NAMED

Citizens and Councilmen Will Serve on Body to Be Appointed Under Councilman Thomson's Resolution.

Councilman Albert Thomson's resolution urging council to authorize the appointment of a committee of ten members of council and five citizens, to be named by James E. Warren, mayor pro tem, to investigate into the advisability of a bond issue, was adopted by council yesterday afternoon.

The committee will be named by Mayor Pro Tem Warren within the next three or four days, and will be urged to begin holding sessions immediately. It is the aim of Councilman Thomson to have the committee hold public meetings to hear from all citizens who desire to make claims for needed improvements in every section of the city.

American Pilgrim at Vatican.

Rome, May 19.—An American pilgrimage of fifty persons, conducted by the Right Rev. John Grimes, bishop of Syracuse, N. Y., was received this morning by Cardinal Morry del Val, papal secretary of state. Bishop Grimes was afterward received in private audience by Pope Pius. He is the first American prelate to be received since the pontiff's illness. His report is that he found the Pope looking well, in cheerful spirits and alert.

OLD GUARD LEAVES ON PEACE MISSION

1,500 People Gather at the Terminal Station to Wish Famous Military Company God Speed on Journey.

The Old Guard of Atlanta, resplendent in new uniforms and on a pleasure jaunt through the east, is in Washington today, on the first leg of the trip that will last until June 3, and carry them through all the cities that the organization visited 34 years ago when it undertook a mission of peace, a mission that brought a closer understanding between north and south and culminated in the gathering in Atlanta two years ago of more famous military companies than possibly had ever congregated in one place.

The festivities and hearty good fellowship between representatives of the two sections will be enacted again on this trip, the only difference being that the southerners will be the guests as they were 34 years ago when, with wonderful patriotism and desire to see the friendship of ante-bellum days renewed, they started out on a peace mission.

Crowd Bids Them Farewell.

The departure of Atlanta's famous company took place Monday morning, the troop parading from the Piedmont hotel to the Terminal station, where some 1,500 people lined up to give them a hearty farewell and best wishes.

All the pomp and panoply of war was present in the march through Atlanta when their band played "Dixie," and the sun shone on inspired faces both in the marching troop and in the spectators who waved handkerchiefs and shouted their applause.

The troop was attired in ful ldress uniform, in one that they had never worn before, but had saved for this occasion. It consisted of broadcloth trousers with moleskin packets and navy blue tunics with white and gold stripes, gold epaulets set upon the shoulders of each trooper added to the glitter and splendor which was heightened by Hungarian shakos and gold buttons, each bearing the inscription "Old Guard, 1855.' On each sword which the troop carried was engraved "Old Guard, Georgia."

In the party were only four men who made the former trip. They were Colonel J. F. Burke, who commanded on the previous occasion as well as on this one; C. P. Byrd, P. F. Clarke and Chief W. B. Cummings, of the Atlanta fire department.

Women Make the Trip.

Several women were in the party of 68 who made the trip, and among them were Mrs. A. McD. Wilson and daughter, Mrs. P. F. Clarke, Mrs. W. A. Graham, Mrs. Henry Beerman and daughter.

The Old Guard will spend Tuesday in Washington, where they will be received by President Wilson and where they will present to Mrs. Wilson a cluster of roses from her former home at Rome, Ga.

They will be escorted to the white house by the famous Washington Light Infantry. In the afternoon they will review a special drill of federal troops at Fort Myer and listen to a concert arranged in their honor, and given by the United States Marine band. Many other entertainments have been provided so that their time until they leave Wednesday morning for Baltimore will be well taken up.

From Baltimore on their complete itinerary has been planned as follows:

Arrive in Philadelphia 10:30 a. m., May 22. Leave 12:40 p. m., May 24.

Arrive in New York 3 p. m., May 24. Leave 3 p. m., May 28.

Arrive in Boston 9 p. m., May 28. Leave Boston 6 p. m. May 30, over the Fall River line, arriving in New York 7 a. m, May 31.

Leave New York at 3 p. m., May 31, over the Ocean Steamship line, arriving in Savannah 6 a. m., June 3.

Leave Savannah 5 p. m., June 3, and arrive in Atlanta, Central of Georgia station, at 8:25 a. m., June 4.

Fighting Free Sugar.

Washington, May 19.—Luis M. Rivera, resident commissioner of Porto Rico; Jose Je Diego, speaker of the Porto Rican house, Martin Travieso, president of the executive council, and a delegation of business men from the island today presented a memorial to President Wilson declaring that the free sugar provision in the tariff bill would destroy their sugar industry. The president promised to study their argument.

PLANTATION MELODIES CHARM BIG AUDIENCE

Singing of Negroes Proves the Feature of Fifth Mass Meeting of Presbyterians.

In the same building where Caruso, a few weeks ago, sa Grimaldo in La Gioconda, literally swept an audience off its feet by his soul-stirring arias, a negro man, singing the solo parts of "befo' de war" plantation melodies, supported by a chorus of 200 negro voices from Atlanta Baptist college, took the Presbyterian assemblies by storm last night at their fifth mass meeting.

By 8 p. m. fully 4,000 people had gathered in the auditorium. Rev. Dr. Ralph Atkinson, of Seattle, Wash., the musical director of the assemblies, mounted the platform, and announced that a hymn would be sung by the negro students. Five minutes later the gigantic audience burst into applause, which continued until six en cores had been sung.

"I Want to Be a Christian," "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot," and other old hymns of southern plantation days rung from the building. Mordecai Johnson, of Paris, Tenn., a teacher in the college, sat on the top row of the right side gallery, and sang the solo parts in a deep tenor, of wonderful volume and tone. Time and again, in answer to the deafening applause, he started some old song familiar to the older southerners in the audience and a reminder of ante-bellum days.

Rivaled Caruso's Applause.

The speeches of the evening were devoted to the negro problem. Rev. J. G. Snedecor, Superintendent of Stillman Institute, Tuscaloosa, Ala., presided over the meeting, and in speaking of the work of the Presbyterian church, he said: "Our work is unselfish, we lack the inspiration of denominational pride."

Dr. Edward P. Cowan, Secretary of Freedmen's board, Pittsburg, Pa., spoke of "Fifty years of educational missions among the negroes." One of his strongest points made was that "fifty years ago only five per cent of the negro population could read. Today 69 and a half both read and write."

Rev. W. McGhanahan, of the United Presbyterian church, and Knoxville college, for negroes, Knoxville, Tenn., presented "Practical plans of cooperation in religious work among the negroes." "The solution of our work is not in co-operating in Atlanta, Pittsburg, or Philadelphia, but right on the field," he said. "And co-operation here simply means ha ing the spirit of Christianity among us.

Dr. Lyon's Views.

The newly elected moderator of the Southern Presbyterian church, so-called, Rev. Dr. J. S. Lyons, of the First P. S. Church, Louisville, Ky., delivered a brilliant address on "The Southern Presbyterian viewpoint and attempted solution of the negro religious problem."

"HAPPY JACK" SMILED EVEN IN DEATH CHAIR

John Mulraney Calls Cheerful Good-Bye to Becker and Rosenthal Gunmen.

Ossining, N. Y., May 19.—John Mulraney, who was to have been put to death as a murderer on March 17, but won a sixty-days reprieving by declaring in a personal appeal to the governor that he was going to death as the martyr of a criminal "code of honor," was electrocuted at Sing Sing prison today. "Happy Jack," as he was known to his comrades, wore to the last the smile that had won him his nickname, and called back to the other inmates of the death cells a cheerful "good-bye." Charles Becker, the former New York police lieutenant, and the gunmen involved with him in the Rosenthal murder, were among the fourteen who answered.

The murder of which "Happy Jack" was convicted was that of Patrick McBreen, known as "Paddy the Priest," a New York saloon keeper, who was shot while standing behind his bar on the night of October 3, 1911. John J. Bowling, who died before he could be tried, and Mulraney both signed confessions to the murder, but in the death house Mulraney repudiated his admissions, claimed an alibi and asserted he had accepted the conviction following a "crook's code of honor not to squeal on the other fellow. Justice Pendaky, of New York, decided, however, that there were no grounds for a new trial.

EFFORT TO SMUGGLE COSTS WOMAN $2,000

Trenton, N. J., May 19.—A fine of $2,000 was imposed on Mrs. Agnes Mangels, of San Francisco, who is alleged to have landed on May 12 from the steamer Amerika at Hoboken, without declaring a proper value of goods brought by her from aboard. Mrs. Mangels entered a plea of non-suit. Her counsel pleaded with the court to extend mercy and not impose a prison sentence.

The value of the goods brought into the country was estimated by the federal customs appraisers at about $5,500, of which $1,800 was declared. It was stated to the court that restitution to the value of sixty per cent of the goods had been made to the customs officers.

Miss Agnes Tillman, a niece of Mrs. Mangels, was cited to appear because of alleged improper declarations of gowns and jewels, but the charges against her were withdrawn. Miss Tillman agreed to pay the duty for the full value of her property.

DR. LILLY WILL WORK AS FIELD SECRETARY

New York, May 19.—Dr. D. Clay Lilly, of Richmond, Va., according to announcement made today, has accepted a call to become one of the field secretaries of the Laymen's Missionary Movement to assist in organizing the United Missionary campaign projected by the Home and Foreign Missionary leaders of the protestant churches of America. His work will be primarily in the south where he is known as one of the leaders of the Southern Presyterian church.

In connection with the United missionary campaign, it has been decided to hold inter-denominational missionary conferences, lasting two days each, in several hundred towns and cities of the United States and Canada next winter.

ATTACKED AT HOME AND ALSO ABROAD

Protest Against Underwood Revision Measure From All Quarters—They Object to Administrative Features.

Washington, May 19.—While democratic senators are wrestling with home manufacturers, protesting against numerous rates in the Underwood bill, they are confronted also by protests from foreign countries against administrative features of the bill, and the provision that would grant a 5 per cent reduction of the duty on imports in American bottoms.

Protests from England, Germany, France, Italy, Australia, and other countries have been sent to the state department and communicated to the finance committee, where they will first be considered by a subcommittee of which Senator Williams is chairman.

Attention of the committee has been called to a meeting of the National Association of Industry and Commerce, of France, a few days ago, at which the Underwood bill was condemned, the administrative features of which, it was claimed, would arbitrarily increase the hindrances to trading with this country.

Protests From Many Countries.

From many countries have come protests against that new provision in the bill, which would give the secretary of the treasury authority to exclude from entry goods of merchants or manufacturers who refuse to submit for inspection by United States agents, their accounts pertaining to valuation or classification of merchandise whenever disputes arise. The attitude of the committee and the administration is to adhere to this provision, the claim being that it will not be abused, and will serve as a bar to professional defrauders. Foreign governments maintain that it will result in unusual trouble.

One request of the foreign governments is for a return to a provision of tariff laws before the Payne-Aldrich bill, which in cases of disputed valuation, would give the appraiser the right to increase it 5 or 10 per cent. Such a provision was originally included in the Payne-Aldrich bill, but it was not there when the bill passed, the claim being that it was unintentionally omitted. Consideration of all these protests will be taken up by the finance committee soon.

Subcommittees today listened to protests from thread and wire manufacturers. Tomorrow the full finance committee will meet to determine, among other things, how much more time subcommittees shall give to private hearings. The matter of sending out Senator LaFollette's series of questions on tariff to manufacturers, also will be considered.

Sweeping Amendment Proposed.

An amendment to the tariff bill, introduced today by Senator Kenyon, proposed that when any corporation or concern was adjudged a monopoly it should automatically go on the free list. Mr. Kenyon has kept that the finance committee may favorably consider the amendment, but if not he will press it on the floor.

The proposal has almost unlimited possibilities for overturning schedules.

The question of whether products of concerns reorganized since the supreme court held them to be monopolies might still be under monopolistic control, also would enter into the application of the law, should the Kenyon amendment be incorporated.

"When do the senator expect to bring the bill out of committee?" asked Senator Smith, of Michigan, of Chairman Simmons.

"I hoped we might be able to finish it during the first week in June," replied Senator Simmons.

"Does that include the caucus?" asked Senator Penrose.

"I do not know yet that we have decided to have one," answered Senator Simmons.

"Will it be open to the public?" continued Senator Penrose. Senator Simmons declined to keep up the discussion.

JEALOUS OF DAUGHTER HE MURDERS TWO MEN

After Killing Son-in-Law and Latter's Father, Garrett Forces Daughter to Accompany Him.

Columbia, S. C., May 19.—Robert Garrett, who yesterday shot and killed his son-in-law, Aaron Campbell, and the latter's father, John H. Campbell, surrendered this morning in a swamp near Bishopville, after being surrounded by a posse of citizens with bloodhounds, and was safely lodged in the Bishopville jail. His daughter, who was forced to accompany him into the swamp after Garrett had killed her husband and the elder Campbell, pleaded with him to give himself up.

Garrett, who is said to be of weak mind, is believed to have entertained an unnatural jealousy of his daughter, who married young Campbell on last Friday.

In September, 1910, Garrett was convicted of having improper relations with his daughter, and served one year and eleven months of a two-year sentence in the state penitentiary, one month being deducted on account of good behavior while a convict.

SENATE DEMOCRATS TIGHTEN THE LINES

Washington, May 19.—Tightening of the lines by democratic senators through Wilson's nominations began today when democratic senators in caucus practically decided that the old custom of packing should be abandoned so far as executive sessions and consideration of appointments is concerned. Democrats have had great difficulty in retaining a quorum in executive sessions, but without pairs expect to keep enough senators present to conduct the right for confirmations of hundreds of nominations pending.

Billy Long Stock Company.

(At the Atlanta.)

Miss Billy Long has an opportunity to show a new phase of her ability as an actress in "Deep Purple," a play of the underworld of New York, which she and her associate players present this week at the Atlanta. In it she takes the part of a reformed thief, a woman with a police record who has become honest, but who is still through no fault of her own, connected with her past associates.

Her acting in this difficult role, which requires a certain roughness of manner and the portrayal of an entirely diffrent character from what she has previously shown indicates her versitality and was appreciated to the fullest extent.

Miss Agnes Tinsley Harrison, the ingenue leading woman with the Long stock company, also has a prominent part. She takes the part of a young girl who has been lured from her home to play unconsciously the part of a female blackmailer

In her shock at learning the man with whom she was infatuated is a criminal, she is cleared somewhat in her rescue by the man against whom the gang of blackmailers have set their plot comes the main feature of the play.

The play throughout is a strong one, and with the exception of the first act is well rendered. In that, while there is no occasion for heavy action, the principals appear to feel the influence of what is to be afterwards and are but too much feeling into their lines.

A moderately filled house, despte the inclement weather, received the play favorably Monday night, and showed the appreciation of Miss Long and Miss Harrison, as well as of Edwin Vail and other members of the company.

Tabloid Musical Comedy.

(At the Bijou.)

Tabloid musical comedy was intrduced at the Bijou at the matinee and evening performances yesterday to exactly testing gatherings, and no audience could have ever been better entertained in any local theatre.

A"A Trip to Joyville" is in two comedy situations and vaudeville specialties between the acts. There is the comedy, musical numbers that were while filled all the way home, scenery that is pleasing to the eye, comedians that are fair and there have never been prettier girls on any local stage.

There are daily matinees—two on Saturday and two performances each night the rest of the week. It is announced that Joseph Howard's "The District Leader" will be the next attraction.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

You don't always have to be advertised to the public as the greatest ever to make good on the vaudeville stage in Atlanta. Oftentimes it's the "dark horse" that comes off the honors and wins all the applause, and such is partly the case this week.

"Partly" is used in this connection because of the fact that there are several acts that run true to form, and consequently all the applause is not cornered by aforesaid "dark horse," but he gets enough enough to satisfy the most ambitious performer.

His name is John Geiger, and his job is that of making a violin talk to you, just about as plainly as a man or woman can talk to another. It's some violin and some player. In fact, there's few things this instrument can't do. Whether it's straight playing or imitations, Geiger is there with the material, and gets over the footlights and makes you forget that the front row of three girls, who are good to look at. Their physical perfections are abundantly displayed, and the front row will be engaged for a week. One of the girls is an unusually good entertainer, and kept the audience in a laugh all through the act Monday afternoon.

Gallagher and Fields, in a comedy act, entitled "The Battle of Bay Rum," are the headers at the opening performance. It carries a fine stage setting. The comedian and the straight man are both good, and their material is clever.

Josephine Dunfee, a singer, is fair. Nevins and Erwood do some neat dancing, but the act doesn't go as good as it did on their former visit to the city. Adam and Eve, a monkey act, will entertain the children. Better animal acts have been offered in Atlanta, however. Bradshaw Brothers, openers, have one of the best contortion numbers ever presented in Atlanta.

UNION CARPENTERS QUIT AT BIRMINGHAM

Birmingham, Ala., May 19.—Because Master Builders and contractors refused to grant demands of union carpenters for a raise of 7 cents an hour, making the wages 50 cents, 2,000 union men, carpenters and plumbers, structural iron and steel workers, painters, hoisters, bricklayers and other craftsmen went out on a sympathetic strike this morning. Three skyscraper buildings are involved, an estimate being made that building work to the amount of $5,000,000 is being interfered with. Contractors who have signed with the carpenters are feeling the strike also.

U. P. Splits Over Control Of Sunday School Work; Home Mission Board Wins

The first serious friction of the present meeting of the United Presbyterian assembly occurred at Monday afternoon's session, when the question arose as to whether the church wanted the Sunday school work to come under the control of the board of publication, or remain under charge of the board of home missions.

After two hours of serious debating by giants on each side of the question, it was decided that the board of home missions should continue, for one more year at least, as the head of the Sunday school work.

Only last year this work was placed under the home mission board. This board's claim, as voiced Monday, was that they should continue to control it, as the Sunday school lead up to the church. The contention raised by the board of publication was that as they had the publication of Sunday school literature under their control, they should have the Sunday school work as well.

Home Mission Board Wins.

Prof. John A. Wilson, of the Pittsburg theological seminary, introduced a resolution to the effect that the home mission board continue to control the Sunday school work. This resolution was finally adopted. Rev. George K. Raitt, of the home mission board, will be the head of this work for the coming year at least.

When Professor Wilson rose to make his resolution known he said: "Let us not have friction here, as one assembly in the city is having—and here the moderator, Dr. William M. Russell, broke in: "There is no friction here."

"Thank God!" said Professor Wilson, "let us remember that we are U. P.'s."

At the close of the afternoon's session Dr. Russell said:

"I am going to ask that each of you pray long and earnestly tonight that no friction may arise among us. Let this assembly be one of the most successful, the most productive for good that the United Presbyterian church has ever had. May we return to the old spirit of the covenanters, and may we obey the laws of our God, and of our assembly."

Bigger Assembly Fund.

A number of minor reports were heard at this session. Among the major reports was the report on judiciary, etc.

In the report of the committee on finance, it was recommended that 3 per cent, instead of the former 2 per cent, of the budget, should be given to the assembly fund. This was adopted.

At this morning's session Rev. Vincenzo Napoli, an Italian from Columbus, Ohio, will offer prayer in his own tongue, followed by the assembly repeating the Lord's prayer in English.

Bishous Are Assigned.

Decatur, Ill., May 19.—Among Bishops assigned by the United Brethren general conference here today were: East district, William W. Weekley; Central, G. M. Mathews; Southwest, C. J. Kephart; Foreign, A. T. Howard.

OVER BOND MONEY CITY OFFICIALS FIGHT

Washington, Ga., Treasurer Is Ousted for Failure to Honor Mayor's Drafts.

Washington, Ga., May 19.—(Special.) The city government of Washington will be transferred to the little city of Warrenton, Ga., tomorrow, the occasion being the hearings of mandamus proceedings before Judge B. F. Walker, of the Toombs circuit, brought by the mayor and city council of Washington against city treasurer, F. H. Ficklen. For the 24 hours that members of the local council are in Warrenton, this city will be without municipal government.

The case is to be argued before Judge Walker in chambers on Tuesday and the outcome is a matter of much interest and concern locally and its developments may be of interest to every municipality in the state operating under a charter similar to that of Washington.

The contest is on between Mayor Favor and Treasurer Ficklen to determine whether the former or the latter ha sthe right to disburse city funds. The break between the two city officials came several days ago when $30,000 was received from the sale of municipal bonds for paving purpose.

Dishonors Mayor's Drafts.

As soon as these funds were in the hands of Treasurer Ficklin, Mayor Favor, without consulting with the treasurer, proceeded to draw against the bond money for $21,000 which Treasurer Ficklen declined to pay until he was consulted as to the purposes in which the $21,000 of bond money was to be applied.

Mayor Favor then called a special meeting of the council at which Councilman J. R. Dyson introduced a motion that the office of city treasurer of Washington be declared vacant. The motion was carried.

Mr. Ficklen's dismissal occurred on Monday evening but when he declined to be put out so unceremoniously, the mayor and council called another hurried meeting, passed an ordinance naming three banks of Washington as depositories for city funds and at 4 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon Mayor Favor served the treasurer with written notice of the ordinance just passed and instructed that the bond money be deposited at once in the three named banks."

Charged With "Misconduct."

Mr. Ficklen being a banker himself and knowing the usual hours observed by the other banks of Washington from 9 a. m. until 3 p. m., made no attempt to carry out the instructions of Mayor Favor on Wednesday afternoon. For this non-compliance with the Mayor's order, instantly, Treasurer Ficklen was cited at 4:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon to appear before council at 8 o'clock Wednesday night and show why he should not be again removed from office for "misconduct in office."

Treasurer Ficklen stated that he considered that a majority of Mayor Favor's friends in council were trying to run the steam roller over him and he would refuse to comply with the mayor's orders until the courts determine whether their action was legal. This is the issue which Judge Walker will be asked to pass on Tuesday in Warrenton.

FORSYTH UNDERPASS COMMITTEE NAMED

Alderman Ragsdale Favors Immediate Closing of Alabama and Marietta Gaps.

Alderman I. N. Ragsdale has asked council to take immediate steps towards closing the gap at the Marietta and Alabama street entrances of the Forsyth street underpass.

Monday afternoon he offered a resolution signed by himself and councilman Haverty, asking that Clark Howell, James R. Gray, Robert F. Maddox and W. F. Winecoff, be appointed a committee to go over the plans with a view of accelerating the work. Council adopted the resolution.

Alderman Ragsdale believes that a committee of interested property owners should take up the improvement for which the finance committee provided in the January sheet.

MOODY INSTITUTE REUNION FOR TODAY

A supper and reunion between Dr. Farley E. Zartman, of Chicago, secretary of the extension department of the Moody Bible institute, and a number of former students of the institute has been arranged for 5:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Cafe Durand.

Secretary Zartman and numbers of the men who formerly studied at the institute are in attendance upon sessions of the general assembly of the U. S. A. Presbyterian church, and those who have not received a notice to be present are asked to notify Dr. Zartman, at the Piedmont hotel.

Declaring that her husband had willfully deserted her and left her with nothing but her wearing apparel, Mrs. Inez Johnson filed a petition for total divorce yesterday against E. S. Johnson, named as the deserting husband.

In her petition, filed by Attorney John S. McClelland, Mrs. Johnson states that she was married in 1905, and that on January 7, 1910, her husband deserted her and has not been living with her since. The petition mentions no children as a result of the union.

ALONZO LYNN SEEKS NEW TRIAL FOR LIFE

Supreme Court Hears Argument for Man Convicted of Slaying Old Veteran.

Before associate Justices Evans, Atkinson and Hill of the supreme court, at its session Monday morning, the case of Alonzo L. Lynn came up for a hearing.

It was argued for the state by Solicitor Stephens, of Laurens county, and Judge John S. Adams, of Dublin, and for the defense by Colonel Stephen P. New and George B. Davis, of Dublin.

This is the case in which Alonzo L. Lynn and his wife, Alice Lynn, were jointly indicted at the January term of the grand jury of the superior court of the Dublin district, for conspiracy in the killing of F. M. Hightower, an aged Confederate Veteran, who was found dead at the Lynn home in Laurens county, December 18, 1912.

At the trial of the case in the lower court Mrs. Lynn admitted firing the shots that caused Hightower's death. Her plea was that the deceased made improper proposals to her. However, the counsel for the state argued a conspiracy between Mr. Lynn and Alice Lynn. After being out almost five days the jury brought in a verdict of guilty of murder with a recommendation for life imprisonment for Alonzo Lynn and freed his wife. Judge Hawkins gave Mr. Lynn the full sentence. Counsels New and Davis for Lynn immediately filed a motion for a new trial in the supreme court.

There were 21 grounds in the defense's motion for a new trial, the main points being that the grand jury was sitting in unlawful session at the time the indictment was brought in, and the court erred in admitting unlawful testimony, also, that the jury had absolutely no testimony upon which a verdict as made could possibly have been based. Counsel for plintiff argued the reverse, citing precepts from the code to substantiate their plea.

An interesting incident in the murder of Hightower was the fact that an operative from the William J. Burns detective agency ferreted out the state's evidence. C. W. McCall, the Burns agent who worked on this murder for over three weeks' used a dictagraph machine, placed in Lynn's cell, to get enough evidence to indict.

The ruling in the Lynn case will be handed down after next opinion day, which is the middle of June.

C. O. D. NEAR BEER GETS COUNCIL'S O. K. BY NEW ORDINANCE

Near-beer dealers can legally send out bottle beer to customers C. O. D., under the provisions of an ordinance adopted by council yesterday afternoon.

Under the old ordinance regulating the sale of beer in Atlanta, dealers could send out bottle beer and collect at the place of delivery, but according to a ruling City Attorney Mayson gave to Judge Broyles, the practice was illegal. The old law made it possible for persons to peddle beer on the streets, and it was to prevent this that Judge Broyles asked for the ruling.

Chairman Colcord, of the police committee offered the substitute ordinance in council, Monday afternoon. Some members of council wanted it referred to the police committee, but were voted down 17 against 3.

The ordinance was adopted with only three votes against it.

NO MUZZLE FOR FIDO

Mayor's Veto Upheld for First Time in Long While.

The Van Dyke-Nutting "dog muzzling" ordinance was relegated to the councilmanic junk heap yesterday when council sustained Mayor Woodward's veto of the muchly discussed measure.

The vote on the veto was nineteen to override the mayor and nine to sustain him. As a two-thirds of the voting strength of council is required to pass a measure over t ehmayor's head, the attempt to carry the ordinance through failed.

Those who voted to sustain the mayor were Aldermen Candler and Harwell and Councilmen Lynch, Sheppard, Ashley, Thompson, Wood, Colcord and Smith.

Councilman Smith, explaining his vote, declared that the measure could have been drawn so as to embrace all the laws of the city relating to the dog nuisance.

Mayor Woodward vetoed the measure because he said the repealing section wiped out all the other good laws on the subject. City Attorney Mayson drew the ordinance. He told council, when called on by Alderman Nutting, that the ordinance wiped out only those laws in conflict with the measure.

POSSE HUNTING NEGRO

Man Wanted in South Carolina Thought to Be Near Ludowici.

Savannah, Ga., May 19.—According to reliable reports that reach Savannah this afternoon from a point on the Atlantic Coast Line railway between Ludiwci, in Liberty county, and Doctortown, Richard Henry Austin, the negro who killed several persons in South Carolina three weeks ago, is about to be caught.

The Atlantic Coast Line railway stopped its train at the point indicated this afternoon to let a posse get off to go after Austin. The outlaw is said to have been identified by a negro who reported his presence to the authorities in Jesup. The Atlantic Coast Line officials attach much importance to the finding of the negro, and say that he is undoubtedly the man wanted.

INCREASE IN RATES BARRED TO RAILROAD

Washington, May 19.—A railroad is not warranted in exacting increased rates merely because it has not direct facilities for delivering shipments, the interstate commerce commission today held, in effect, in a contested case involving freight rates on ice from Wisconsin points to Chicago.

The "Soo" line has no terminal facilities in Chicago. "If it cannot afford to pay for terminal services," the commission announced, "it will doubtless have to retire from competitive traffic. It may not either by itself or in conjunction with other carriers maintain unreasonable or unjustly discriminatory charges."

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS GATHER IN WAYCROSS

Elaborate Preparations Made for Entertainment of Grand Lodge by South Georgia City.

Waycross, Ga., May 19.—Special.)—Tomorrow the advance guard of the annual convention of the grand lodge of Knights of Pythias will be in Waycross. During tonight most of the 500 delegates who will attend the convention will be in Waycross, and early Wednesday morning special trains will bring the others here.

The city is ready for the convention, and the local entertainment committees have left nothing undone in the way of amusement for the visitors.

Special preparations are being made for the big night street parade when a class of thirty will be taken into the dramatic order Knights of Khorassan. A carload of wheelbarrows, pitchforks, several small cannon and other equipment to give the candidates an enjoyable evening have been ordered.

Several mayors of some of the most progressive cities of Georgia will be in Waycross attending the grand lodge. Among those who will be in the city are Mayor R. J. Davant, of Savannah, and Mayor Miller S. Bell, of Milledgeville. Both are prominent in Pythian circles, and the latter will be elected grand chancellor of the state.

Fire Companies Fight State.

Jefferson City, Mo., May 19.—Briefs were filed in the supreme court today in the injunction proceedings instituted by Attorney General Barker to prevent the fire insurance companies from leaving the state. The briefs attacked the position of the attorney general in every particular, claiming that the companies did not combine to leave the state in violation of the law, and they were not in a combination the time the suit was filed.

HANSEN IS DESCRIBED AS VIOLENT CHARACTER

London, May 19.—J. Salter Hansen, the American theatrical manager, was brought up in police court today charged with threatening Arthur Bourchier, the English actor-manager, with violence. His case was continued until Friday.

The attorney for the prosecution described Mr. Hansen as a man of "very violent character." The police testified that they had to throw him to the ground in order to search him.

Detective Inspector Carlin said he thought Mr. Hansen was mad.

If the prison doctor reports favorably on the state of the prisoner's mind, Mr. Hansen will be released on Friday on a bond of $5,000, binding him to keep the peace.

The quarrel over the two men arose over the method of production of a play at a London theater.

FOR CARRYING PISTOL OFFICER IS ARRESTED

Interesting Point of Law Put Up to Higher Courts by Columbus Recorder.

Columbus, Ga., May 19.—(Special.)—G. W. Williams, an officer from Buttlochville, Ga., was bound over in recorder's court today, charged with carrying concealed weapons, under rather peculiar circumstances.

The officer stated that he came to Columbus looking for a negro criminal and presumed that he had the right to carry a weapon.

The question arose as to whether he had the right to carry concealed weapons while outside of his own county and the recorder turned the issue over to the higher courts

KING PETER OF SERVIA TO QUIT HIS THRONE

He Will Abdicate and Retire to Geneva as Soon as Peace Is Concluded.

Geneva, Switz., May 19.—King Peter of Servia intends to abdicate as soon as he possibly can after peace between the Balkan states and Turkey has been signed. He plans to return to Geneva, where he lived for many years before he was called to the Servian throne in 1903 after the murder of King Alexander and Queen Draga.

The Servian monarch's intention became known when his emissary arrived here today to find a suitable residence for his majesty. Crown Prince Alexander and Prince George, the king's son, were educated here and his majesty, as Prince Karageorgovitch, made many Genevese friends with whom he corresponds regularly.

The health of King Peter, who is 69 years old, has broken down, it is understood, as a result of the war, and he wishes to end his days in peace.

MACON LOCKER CLUBS MAY CLOSE SUNDAYS

Ordinance to That End Will Be Considered by the City Council Friday.

Macon, Ga., May 19.—Special.)—The Macon city council will decide tomorrow night whether Macon is to havv dry Sundays. An ordinance has been prepared at the request of Alderman P. L. Hay, and will be introduced by him at the meeting tomorrow. It will call for the closing of all locker clubs at midnight Saturday night, to remain closed until 5 o'clock Monday morning, including the Elks, Cherokee, Idle Hour, Owls and Eagles, all of which are favorite gathering places on Sunday afternoons.

There is some doubt about the measure passing, and a warm fight is expected when the question comes up. None of the aldermen have openly expressed themselvs except Alderman Hay, but several of them are known to be opposed to the plan.

The city attorney has ruled that should council desire to close the clubs upon Sunday it has the power under its police regulations to do so. Some time ago Mayor Moore issued an order for all clubs to close up promptly at midnight every night, and the order is being rigidly obeyed, and there has been a noticeable decrease of drunks in recorder's court.

One thing that may prevent action on the Sunday closing is the fact that the grand jury, now in session, has indicted all of the clubs for keeping open a tipling house on Sunday, and as long as the state has stepped in it is possible that council may decide to await and see the outcome of these cases when they are brought to trial.

May Oust Mercer "Frats."

Macon, Ga., May 19.—(Special.)—Students at Mercer university are looking forward to Thursday with a good deal of interest, for it is reported that an effort will be made at that time to have the faculty recommend to the trustees that Greek letter fraternities be barred from the institution.

Those who remember the disturbance that a previous attempt along this line caused five or six years ago, know the significance of it. A few years ago when the effort was made to oust the fraternities a large portion of the student body withdrew to Wake Forest college asking admittance to that institution, but before the arrangement could be made it was decided not to push the fight against the "frats," and the students decided to remain.

It is stated that President Jameson is in favor of the abolishment of the fraternities on the theory that the institution will be benefited where all of the students are on an equal footing. It is said that several of the faculty members do not share the same view as President Jameson, and it is generally believed that they will turn the proposition down.

One of the arguments advanced against the fraternities is taht the halls are used for various kinds of entertainment that is barred from the college. The "frat" men declare, however, that the only violation of the rules they know anything about occurred several weeks ago when certain of the freshmen, not knowing that they were doing wrong, danced about one of the halls with certain young ladies from the city who were guests of the chapter for the afternoon. When told that it was a violation of the college rules, it is said that these freshmen have never repeated the offense inside the college.

Arrange Alumni Meeting.

Macon, Ga., May 19.—(Special.)—The Macon members of the Mercer alumni will meet Wednesday to complete the final arrangements for the entertainment of the alumni on the occasion of the diamond jubilee of the college, which occurs on June 5.

At that time every fifth class from 1853 down to 1913 will hold reunions and a number of class dinners will be given. Among the speakers of the occasion will be Dr. H. H. Harris, of Cairo; Hon A. W. Evans, Sandersville, and Hon W. H. Felton, of Macon.

There are no members of the class of thirteen, who received their diplomas in 1853 living, but Dr. A. T. Spalding, of Atlanta, who received the Bachelor of Divinity degree, still survives.

Raymond Factory Opens.

Raymond, Ga., May 18.—(Special.)—The Raymond Specialty company, manufactures of sanitary sweeping compound, wax floor dressing and disinfectants, opened its factory this morning, and it is understood that enough orders are in hand to keep the plant running steadily for several months. This is the only plant of its kind south of Nashville, and the local investors interested in the enterprise are enthusiastic over the prospects.

DEFENDS FIRE CHIEF FROM MAYOR'S ATTACK

Councilman Smith Says Every Charge Was Investigated. Only Best Hose Bought.

Mayor Woodward's rebuke of the fire probe committee, read to council yesterday afternoon over the protests of Alderman James R. Nutting, brought a vigorous defense of the action of the probing committee from Councilman Charles W. Smith, who was one of the members.

The mayor, in his message, criticised the committee for alleged failure to make a thorough investigation of the charge he made of irregularities in the purchase of hose by the fire department and the purchase of an engine for the Tenth ward station.

Fire Chief Not Favored.

Councilman Smith said that the committee went into a thorough investigation of every charge, and that no member went out of his way to favor Chief Cummings or the members of the firemasters. He said that the testimony showed that Chief Cummings bought the best grade of fire hose for 10 cents, because it was the best.

Councilman Smith declared that Chief Cummings saved the city $400 in the purchases he made during his administraton. As for the charge that the firemasters ignored an offer of rebate of 10 per cent on the Webb engine, Councilman Smith said that there was no positive testimony on that score. He called attention to the purchase of a water tower in 1905, for which the city paid $2,000 in advance, and $4,000 afterwards, and said that Mayor Woodward signed the vouchers for it.

Davidson's Statement Unsupported.

He declared that the only evidence to support R. E. Davidson's charge that he gave Chief Cummings $400 was the unsupported statement of Davidson. Councilman Smith says that the record shows that Davidson contradicted himself on two or three occasions while he was on the stand under oath.

Councilman Smith said that he treated with contempt the statement that the committee did not go to the bottom o ge the ruth.

Although the message was construed by some members of council as a communication pure and simple, upon which council could act only to the extent of having it read and filed, a majority accepted it as a veto of the committee's report, and demanded a vote to override it. Every member of council present voted against the message.

HELD UP BY BURGLAR FOUND IN THEIR ROOM

Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Wilson, who live at the Adair hotel, at 206 Peachtree street, reported to the police yesterday that they had been held up at the point of a revolver between 1 and 2 o'clock Sunday morning, while a burglar, who had entered their room, ransacked their clothes and stole a gold watch.

Mrs. Wilson declared that she was awakened by the intruder, and that she called her husband's attention to his presence. Before either could do anything, however, the robber levelled his gun at them, saying, "keep still, both of you, or I'll shoot."

He then went out, slamming the door after him. It was afterwards found that he got in by using a pass key, after shoving the key on the inside out.

Afterward the slot machine in the lobby was broken into and the contents, amounting to 21 cents, stolen. A guest at the hotel declared that he saw the burglar, who told him that he was from New York and wanted a room.

COLUMBUS CHAUTAUQUA HAS BRILLIANT OPENING

Columbus, Ga., May 19.—(Special.)—Chautauqua week opened brilliontly in Columbus this afternoon with a large attendance, the exercises being held until a big tent on Mott's Green.

The program was opened by the venerable Bishop J. H. Vincent, of Chautauqua, N. Y., founder of the chautauqua movement. He is 83 years of age, but is a virile and interesting speaker.

The chautauqua is being given by the Redpath organization under the auspices of the city federation of woman's clubs, of which Miss Edwina Wood is president. The week will be marked by a number of social features.

FIVE ARE THROWN OUT WHEN TRAIN HITS CAR

J. H. Hirsch, of 40 West Eleventh street, and a party of four friends, narrowly escaped death Sunday evening, when the automblie in which they were crossing the Georgia railroad tracks on the East Lake road, was struck by a speeding passenger. Every occupant of the car was thrown out, but none were injured.

Besides Mr. Hirsch, there were in the automobile Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Carmichael and the 15-year-old son and 13-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charmichael.

The machine was badly damaged.

U. S. Court in Rome.

The United States district court for the northwestern division of the northern district convened yesterday morning in Rome with Judge Newman, of Atlanta, presiding. Accompanied by District Attorney Tate, Assistant District Attorney Henley, United States Marshall Johnson, Deputy Marshall Rinard and Deputy Clerks, John Dean Steward and Fred Beers, Judge Newman left Atlanta Sunday night. The docket of the northwestern divis on is not a large one and it is expected the May term of the court will be concluded by the middle of the week. Otherwise the court will be adjourned to some date next month as the May term for the eastern division of the northern district at Athens has been set for Monday next, May 26.

Governor Offers Stripling No Hope.

Following stories published in several state papers to the effect that attorneys for Thomas Edgar Stripling, who was sentenced to life imprisonment for murder sixteen years ago, but later escaped only to be recaptured again in Danville, Va., where he had become chief of police, are preparing tc ask for executive clemency again, Governor Brown has declared that he will hear no further petitions for clemency in the Stripling case. Governor Brown declined to grant a pardon to Stripling when the matter was brought before him in 1911. He declares that he does not think two years' imprisonment sufficient for Stripling crime.

Reward Offered for Dynamiters.

Governor Brown has issued a reward of $150 for the capture of dynamiters who blew up a negro house on the plantation of James T. Anderson, in Cobb county, near Marietta. The reward was offered when the sheriff of Cobb county called upon the governor Monday morning. The governor is of the opinion that certain men in Cobb county have taken up the movement of a lawless element in Forsyth to drive the negroes out of the county. The governor has taken a firm stand against such anarchistic proceedings, and declares that he will spare no pains to put an end to them.

Ordinary's Income Is $5,500.60.

According to the report of John R. Wilkinson, ordinary of Fulton county, filed with Comptroller General W. A. Wright, Monday, that office, for the months of January, February and March has received $5,800.60, of which salaries, printing, postage and other office expenses.

HUFF CASE UP TODAY

Judge Gribb, of Birmingham, to Preside in Macon Case.

Macon, Ga., May 19.—(Special.)—The charge of contempt of court against Colonel W. A. Huff will be tried in the United States district court tomorrow before Judge W. I. Grubb, of Birmingham, Judge Emory Speer having refused to preside. The government will be represented by District Attorney Oliver D. Street, of the northern district of Alabama, while Colonel Huff will be defended by Attorney General T. S. Felder, of Georgia.

The contempt charge against Colonel Huff grew out of two letters he wrote to Judge Speer in which the judicial character of the judge relative to his handling of the Huff bankruptcy case was attacked.

Colonel Huff is 82 years of age and a former mayor of Macon. Fourteen years ago his estate was placed in bankruptcy, and is just now in position to be wound up when the court of appeals passes on certain points which have been appealed from.

WILL ASK LEGISLATURE TO INCREASE PENSIONS

Aim of Those Behind Movement Is to Present Petitions From Every County in State.

Summerille, Ga., May 19.—(Special.)—Petitions to the legislature for an increase of pensions paid by the state to the confederate veterans are being circulated and widely signed in this county, and it is announced by those who are pushing the matter that the intentions to have well supported petitions gotten up in every county of the state.

Among other things the petition says:

"The undersigned confederate veterans, Sons of Confederate Veterans, Daughters of the Confederacy and friends of the survivors of the confederate army, being all citizens of the state of Georgia, respectfully represent to the senate and house that the pensions now paid to confederate veterans are wholly inadequate to meet the requirements of the veterans, now all much advanced in age, often crippled and in most cases with little or no other means of support. That the state is constantly increasing in wealth and population, while the pensioners are being every day reduced in numbers by death. That a minimum pension allowance of $12 a month is the smallest decent allowance that would be of material help to the mass of pensioners and consistent with the dignity, wealth and power of this great state."

SEABOARD LOSES FIGHT AGAINST COMMISSION

Judge Newman of the United States court has filed a decree sustaining the Georgia railroad commission in its order directing a physical connection at Lawrenceville between the Seaboard Air Line and the branch line coming into that city from Sewanee, a station on the Southern. Some months ago the Georgia railroad commission issued an order directing the Seaboard Air Line to make a connection, and the Seaboard appealed on the ground of cost.

WHITENED SKELETON TELLS TRAGIC TALE

Mystery Surrounds Death and Identity of Paul Kirkland.

Augusta, Ga., May 19.—(Special.)—Who is Paul Kirkland, of Sycamore, S. C., and how and when was he killed? His skeleton was found in the Saltehatchie swamp yesterday afternoon and the authorities are trying to unravel the mystery, but with little success so far.

The man has been dead at least six months say doctors who examined the pile of bones as they lay partially submerged in the mud. A letter found under the bones furnishes the only means of identification.

The almost cleanly picked skeleton was found by a wandering negro boy in the middle of the swamp, about 15 miles from Hampton, S. C., and about 20 miles from Sycamore, where he probably resided, according to the address of the letter found under the bones. The man had evidently attempted to cross a small stream of water on a log, as his body was found directly under the log.

Unknown in Sycamore.

Paul Kirkland is unknown in Sycamore, as inquiry developed yesterday. There is a family of Kirklands in Barnwell county, South Carolina, where Sycamore is located, but members of that family say they know nothing of Paul Kirkland.

Magistrate J. T. Murdock, acting as coroner, was notified and went to the scene immediately afterwards with a jury. Under the bones was found a weather-beaten pocketbook. In it were a letter from the W. W. Kimball Piano company, of Augusta, a few post cards and $6 in money. Physicians examined the remains and stated the man had been dead six months, but they could not say whether or not his death was a result of foul play.

Verdict of Foul Play.

The jury, however, returned a verdict that "Paul Kirkland came to his death by violent means at the hands of parties unknown to this jury."

Supporting the belief that he died a horrible and lingering death is a sharp projection on the inside of the log, where a limb had evidently been broken off by a considerable force. It is believed that Kirkland struck either his head or his back on the projection as he fell, fatally wounding him, but not killing him instantly. It is considered improbable that he was killed outright by the fall, but that he was so badly injured he was unable to rescue himself and died in the swamp, far from the beaten trails of civilization for lack of attention after suffering probably for several days.

Muller Fights Brother-in-Law.

Augusta, Ga., May 19.—(Special.)—D. E. Muller, who was arrested in Atlanta several months ago on the charge of bigamy and brought back to Augusta, became embroiled in a row with Roy M. Burnley last night, which was brought on, it is said, by Muller's attempts to induce the sister of Burnley, whom Muller had married as his second wife, to enter an automobile with him and take a ride.

Muller was badly beaten about the head and face with brass knucks and otherwise roughly handled. He was released on a light bond.

Attacks Red Light Opening.

Augusta, Ga., May 19.—(Special.)—The recent "elaborate opening of a house of ill-fame in Augusta," which he charged "was attended by a large number of Augusta's upper ten class," was bitterly denounced by Rev. W. T. Price, D.D., pastor of the First Baptist church of Waycross, during his sermon to men yesterday afternoon at the Second Baptist church, where he is conducting an unusually largely attended revival.

His sermon had to deal principally with the white slave traffic, which he said was rapidly increasing at the rate of 600,000 each year, and it was during his denunciation of the traffic that he brought Augusta's houses of ill-fame into the discussion.

SLATON MAKES ADDRESS TO GRADUATING CLASS

Americus, Ga., May 19.—(Special.)—The commencement exercises at the Third District Agricultural and Mechanical college were concluded this afternoon and were attended by a large audience.

The address of the occasion was delivered by Hon. John M. Slaton, of Atlanta. Diplomas were presented eleven graduates by Superintendent John M. Collum. Preceding the graduating exercises there was a splendid exhibition upon the auditorium stage of the many industrial features of the college.

At the conclusion of the exercises this afternoon a barbecue dinner was served, all of the visitors and student body partaking.

The session of the college closing today was the most successful in the history of that splendid institution.

McReynolds Selects Gregory.

Washington, May 19.—Attorney General McReynolds today announced the appointment of Thomas W. Gregory, of Austin, Texas, a special assistant to prosecute the federal government's proposed extensive investigation of the railroad situation in New England, particularly relating to the New York, New Haven and Hartford, to determine whether the Sherman antitrust law is being violated

REPORT ON REFORM ADOPTED ON MONDAY

United Presbyterian Assembly Wants Bible Read in All Public Schools.

The report of the special committee on reform was adopted by the United Presbyterian assembly at its Monday assembly. Appeals were made for temperance, stricter observance of the Sabbath, reading of the Bible in all public schools, "equal rights and complete justice" to all men in all stations of life, for a single standard of purity and uniform divorce laws.

The special committee's report of reform rejoiced "in the attitude taken by our president, vice president and secretary of state in banishing liquor of all kinds from white house functions," and in the passage of the Webb-Kenyon Interstate commerce bill.

Praise for Organizations.

Praise was given the National Reform league, the Anti-Saloon league and the W. C. T. U. and the Lord's day alliance.

It was also decided to urge upon the national officials the closing of the Panama exposition on the Lord's day.

Fraternal greetings from the Reform Presbyterian church were extended by Dr. Charles Park, of Pittsburg, and from the Associate Reformed Presbyterian church, by Rev. I. M. Kennedy.

The committee on industrial conditions declared "its solemn conviction that the liquor problem is so involved with evil and industrial and social conditions that if its manufacture and sale were absolutely prohibited, all industrial and social problems could be solved in the next four or five decades.

Recommendations Adopted.

Rev. H. H. Marlin, of Pittsburg, chairman of this committee, addressed the assembly, the latter adopting the following recommendations of the committee:

"That Labor day be observed in all churches and special services preached; that the report of the federal council of the churches of Christ in America be adopted; that the church papers conduct departments for the discussion of social service and labor problems; that the general assembly secure someone each year to address its members on topics vital to social and economic progress; that a social service committee be appointed to cooperate with committees of similar conditions from other religious bodies; that synods give a place on their programs to themes dealing with industrial conditions; that employees everywhere be called on to observe the Sabbath; that the board of home missions be given supervision of the work relating to social service and industrial conditions; that the board of home missions give a place on the program of home mission week to study of social service and industrial conditions."

BRUNSWICK MAN'S BODY FOUND FLOATING IN SEA

Brunswick, Ga., May 19.—(Special.)—C. S. McSweeney, son of Postmaster McSweeney, of Waynesville, who has been employed at the plant of the Yaryan Naval Stores company, in this city, for some time, was found drowned yesterday afternoon at Island View, 4 miles from the city, and how he lost his life, or how he even got to the place, seems to be a great mystery, which alengthy session of the coroner's inquest failed to solve. No one saw the man go to the country place; no one knows how he got there or anything at all about him.

Not a piece of evidence could be secured which would give any indication whatever of how the man was drowned. There were no scars about his body to indicate foul play; he had not been in the water long enough when found to even permit the water to wet his clothing through, therefore no theory can be advanced as to how the man got to this place and was drowned without being seen by any one.

The last time he was seen was about 11 o'clock Saturday night, when he left a local barber shop.

THUNDER STORMS ARE SLATED FOR TUESDAY

For the past two days the temperature has attained a maximum of 88 degrees shortly after noon each day, and the same forecast is made for Tuesday, with the additional information that atmospheric conditions are such that local rains will appear throughout the state, and that Atlanta may have a thunder storm during the early morning.

Atlanta is experimenting real summer temperatures these days, and the ice man and the sodawater dispenser are in their full glory, while the coal man and the plumber sit back and wait for their turn again.

According to the weatherman chances are about even for a shower some time before daybreak this morning, or a little later in the day, and if it comes things will be slightly cooler, and the whole section will be refreshed, for there has been very little rain since the middle part of April, and vegetation is beginning to feel the effects of the drouth.

NAVY TO TEST VALUE OF ALASKAN COAL

Washington, May 19.—Final tests to determine the value of Alaskan coal to the navy will be made by the cruiser Maryland during the present summer, according to officers who testified today before the senate territories committee. Lieutenant Commander Daid F. Boyd, of the bureau of steam engineering, told the committee that incomplete tests of coal from the Bering river field indicated it was of high grade.

Paymaster John S. Higgins said the government paid $3 a ton for coal on board colliers at Norfolk and Baltimore, and that delivered on Pacific coast points, Hawaii, or the Philippines, in cost between $7.50 and $8.25 per ton. About 250,000 tons per year are sent to the Pacific, he said, most of it in British bottoms.

The whole American commercial fleet would be needed, with a consequent paralyzing of industry, the paymaster testified, to furnish the nation with colliers in war time to take coal to the Pacific.

DR. JOHN ELLIOTT WILL GIVE ETHICAL LECTURE

Dr. John Lovejoy Elliott will lecture on "The Driving Power of Social Unrest" Thursday night at Cable hall, under the auspices of the ethical committee. Over 1,000 invitations have been issued, and part of the gallery has been set aside for colored preachers and leaders of thought. The public at large is invited. No tickets have been issued and no admission will be charged.

This is the sixth and last of the ethical lectures for the year 1912-1913. The executive committee for these lectures includes M. H. Willensky, chairman; A. H. Banker, L. B. Magid, Harold Hirsch, Clifford L. Anderson, Dr. E. G. Ballenger, Dr. C. B. Wilber, L. C. Hopkins, J. C. Greenfield, E. W. Wilkins.

REFORM PRESBYTERIANS MAY VISIT TUSKEGEE

Rev. A. F. Owens, of Tusgegee Institute, Alabama, was invited by the Associate Reformed Presbyterians Monday morning to extend the invitation of Booker T. Washington to visit his great institution for negroes.

After an address by Dr. Owens the assembly unanimously adopted the following resolutions:

Resolved: That we have received with pleasure the cordial invitation extended to us to visit Tuskegee institute; that we commend the acceptance of the invitation to any of our number whose circumstances may enable them to do so, and that we express our deep interest in the work of the institution.

SOUTHERN LADY BURIED WITH MILITARY HONORS

Savannah, Ga., May 19.—Mrs. Louisa Berrien eSabrook, formerly of Savannah, who died in Charleston Saturday night, was buried here this morning with military honors. A detail from the Oglethorpe Light Infantry and the Sons of Confederate Veterans attended the funeral, the former in uniform.

Mrs. Seabrook was the widow of Francis S. Bartow, Savannah's most conspicuous figure in the first battle of Manassas, and who was killed in that engagement. He was a former commanding officer of the Oglethorpe Light Infantry. After his death his widow married Colonel Seabrook, whom she also survived.

ANDERSON MEETS MANDOT TONIGHT

Los Angeles, May 19.—Light gymnasium work was the schedule today in the training camps of Bud Anderson, the northwestern lightweight, and Joe Mandot, of New Orleans, who will meet tomorrow night at Vernon arena in a 20-round bout.

Mandot already is below the 133-pound limit, while Anderson must disperse of nearly two pounds before weighing tomorrow evening.

Much interest also attaches to the 10-round bout between Monte Attell, former bantamweight, and now a feather, and Cal Delaney, of Cleveland, Ohio, Johnny Kilbane's sparing partner.

DAVIS STREET SCHOOL BADLY NEEDS REPAIR

Five Hundred Fifth Ward Citizens Demand of Council $60,000 for Improvement.

A petition signed by more than 500 citizens and taxpayers of the Fifth ward, urging council to recommend to the finance committee the appropriation of $60,000 in the June sheet for the improvement of the Davis Street school, was referred to council yesterday afternoon.

The communication is signed by a majority of the leading citizens of the ward. It calls attention of council and the finance committee to the dilapidated condition of the school building, and particularly to the fact that it is worse than the Gray Street school for negro children.

Council is also reminded that it owes the improvement of the school to the citizens and taxpayers of the district for the reason that four years ago they supported the bond issue with the understanding that the school would be built.

MRS. D. C. SMITH DEAD; FUNERAL HELD TODAY

The funeral of Mrs. Tinie Smith, who died Monday at a local sanitarium, will be held at 10 o'clock today at the residence, 71 Forrest avenue. Dr. A. M. Hewlett, Dr. S. S. Belk and Dr. H. M. DuBose will conduct the services. The interment will be at Gainesville.

Mrs. Smith is survived by her husband, D. C. Smith, and a daughter, Mrs. Corinne Dunklee.

"SLUMMING PARTY" OF MACON COUPLE RUDELY BROKEN UP

Macon, Ga., May 19.—(Special.)—There are to be no "slumming parties" permitted in Macon's restricted district as shown by the arrest last night of Miss Dorothy Smith and C. K. Kildreath.

The police received a report that the couple had left the city through curiosity to visit the district, and when found the young man was playing a piano in one of the houses and the young woman was enjoying the dance which was in progress.

When told that she would have to go to the police barracks the young woman became hysterical. This morning the couple forfeited their bonds.

This is the first arrest of this kind that has been made, but the chief states that he will not tolerate slumming parties, and those who anticipate such a trip in the future should take warning.

Who'll Be the Next Great Story Writer?

Will Miss Roseboro' Find Him?

Some place in these 48 states—perhaps in a little village or hamlet—lives an obscure young woman or man who will soon rise to fame as a short-story writer.

One single story—a masterpiece of fiction—will turn the trick. But it will have to be a mighty original and interesting story to win an audience beside the inimitable creations of our greatest present-day writers.

Who will the next genius be?

Collier's Weekly has set about to find her (or him). And, realizing it takes genius to discover genius, Collier's has engaged the famed short-story critic, Miss Viola Roseboro'.

Miss Roseboro' is the Official Critic of the Authors' League of America.

It was she who discovered Rex Beach and O. Henry. She was among the first to encourage and recognize the early efforts of Myra Kelly, Arthur Train, Stewart Edward White, Mary Stewart Cutting, Josephine Dodge Daskam and Booth Tarkington.

To aid Miss Roseboro' in her undertaking, Collier's has offered $7,500 as a bonus for the best short stories. This to be given in addition to the usual liberal price paid for short stories.

Mr. Theodore Roosevelt, Mr. Mark Sullivan and Miss Ida Tarbell will be the judges in this Contest.

Out Today in Collier's:

The Pipe Dream—By Mary Brecht Pulver. For islands of the sea, shipwrecks, an old love and an island girl—these be proper matters to make the hero feel he is pipe-dreaming; yet for us Mrs. Pulver gives them all an effect of reality as well as romance.

"Is It to Eat You Live? Yes"—By Grace M. Sissons. This is a little bit of life gotten at first-hand, and showing its authenticity in the grip the child characters get on your laughter and your tears.

"The Ghost That Got the Button"—By Irma Peixotto. Another army story by the author of last week's good story, "The Privilege of the Hero."

The Golden Flask—By Sax Rohmer. Fu Manchu again. Here we come up against the most stupendous of Eastern secrets—one that has baffled the West always, but whose mystery has never been exploded. Lord Southery is dead and then he is alive, but we grow to feel that that is a less matter than whether or not the terrible Fu Manchu is at last trapped.

Back to Life—By John E. Lathrop. Mr. Lathrop supplies the thrills in his own further description, "The Story of My Victory Over Tuberculosis." Hundreds of thousands who have been under the shadow of the great modern plague, either through their own afflictions or those of their friends, will hang eagerly upon this simply told but eloquent narrative.

Schlitz Brown Bottle

Scientists Praise It

WAHL-HENIUS INSTITUTE OF FERMENTOLOGY
6130-1147 FULLERTON AVENUE
Chicago

April 1, 1911.

Mr. Alfred Uihlein
Schlitz Brewing Co.
Milwaukee, Wis.

Dear Sir:

Answering your favor of recent date in regard to the influence of light on the quality of beer, will say that our observations, extending over the last twenty-five years, have convinced us beyond a doubt that exposure of beer to light has a very detrimental influence on its quality generally, but especially upon the flavor of the beer.

We have tested beers repeatedly in this direction placing the bottles into direct sunlight, and testing the same after one, two, three and five minutes exposure, found that the beer with three and five minutes exposure became undrinkable on account of the peculiar odor developed.

The detrimental effect of light upon beer can be successfully counteracted by the employment of brown or dark colored glass bottles, and such bottles are therefore recommendable.

Yours very truly,
RW/B
Wahl-Henius Institute

Extract from letter to Mr. Alfred Uihlein, written by Robert Wahl, President of the Wahl-Henius Institute of Fermentology, Inc., Chicago.

"Beer bottles should be manufactured from reddish-brown glass, inasmuch as same will to a much higher degree than any other kind of glass, minimize the influence of the rays of light on the quality of beer, and will protect the latter against acquiring the disagreeable taste (Sonnengeschmack) due to the chemical action of the light. **

"In white and green glass bottles the beer is most affected by the action of the light. Such bottles are, therefore, absolutely inappropriate and should never be employed by brewers." (Signed) Prof. Dr. F. Schonfeld.

From the Illustrated Brewery Encyclopedia, p. 99 (Illustriertes Brauerei Lexikon). Published by Dr Max Delbruck, Privy Councilor, Professor at the Royal Agricultural College and Director of the Institute for Fermentology at Berlin. Berlin: 1910.

"Bottles of strong glass should be selected. They should never be of colorless glass, inasmuch as through the influence of light the beer will not only take on a disagreeable odor and taste, but will also become turbid." (Lintner.)

Extract from Die Malz und Bierbrauerei. Published by E. Leyser, Director of the Brewing Academy in Augsburg. Tenth Edition. Stuttgart. 1900, page 560.

"The beer in the white glass bottle had taken on disagreeable odor and taste and was absolutely undrinkable. The beer in the dark bottles did not show this peculiar odor and taste." (G. Beck.)

"It is interesting to note the observation that beer in colorless bottles exposed to diffused light will undergo a change, precipitating a heavy sediment and taking on a disagreeable odor and taste."

Extract from Die Theorie und Praxis der Malzbereitung Bierfabrikation. Published by Director Julius E. Thausing, Leipzig, 1891. Fourth Edition, page 920.

"It is a known fact that sunlight and daylight influence unfavorably the taste and flavor of the beer and care must be exercised in the selection of the bottles."

THE ABSENT DEATH'S HEAD.

The Judson fund for foreign missions was swelled by $34,877 at a single meeting last Sunday of the Woman's Missionary union at the Southern Baptist convention in St. Louis. Probably the process was facilitated by the appeal made to the emotions by the following spectacle, as reported by the Associated Press:

> During the services a large number of young women dressed in the costumes of all the foreign countries in which the southern Baptists have missionaries marched into the Auditorium singing gospel songs and bearing the flags of the nation represented.

The Constitution is heartily in sympathy with foreign missions. But is it not as essential to carry uplift to the heathen in our midst, the immoral, illiterate and irreligious negro, as to the heathen over seas? Should not the dollar sent to India, China or Africa be duplicated by a dollar spent for the heathen at our very door?

A large part of the strength of the foreign mission appeal is its picturesqueness. One can easily imagine the effect upon an audience with a bevy of pretty young girls circulating the auditorium clad in the dress of many and strange countries.

Assume someone with courage had paraded that building with a death's head held high—a death's head as a symbol of the danger to and the duty of the white race in meeting the problem of death, disease and immorality arising from the surrounding of the heathen in our very midst!

The contrast between the gay costumes of the various nations, and this grim symbol of home conditions we are neglecting might have aroused in the minds of our churches the duty and the profit of studying the heathen at our gates, no less than the heathen on the Ganges or the Yangste-Kiang.

THE AD MEN'S GAME.

The Ad Men's club of Atlanta is asking Atlanta to help itself by rolling up a big attendance at the baseball game tomorrow afternoon between Memphis and Atlanta. The Ad Men are particularly interested in this game for the reason that the baseball association has agreed to give them a liberal percentage of receipts to be used in boosting Atlanta at the annual convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of America, at Baltimore next month. So, whether you sit in the bleachers, in the grandstand or a box you will be contributing your mite to an organized enterprise to spread the name of Atlanta to the four quarters of the nation.

One of the principal features of the annual conventions of the ad men is a competitive exhibition in which representatives of the various American cities participate. The idea is to perform "stunts" or put on spectacles so unique as to overshadow the other cities, and thus create upon the minds of the publicity experts from all parts of the country a favorable impression of the city thus represented. For illustration, the Ad Men's club of Atlanta gave a watermelon cutting on Copley Square in Boston in 1911. The affair cost in the neighborhood of $1,000, but it advertised this city throughout America. This year the local club has many unusual cards up its sleeve. Money is needed to finance an undertaking of this nature.

Considering that the Ad Men's club has been one of the foremost agencies for constructive publicity in Atlanta, giving freely of its time and brains and money to enterprises of every nature, Atlantans can do no less than reciprocate cordially by attending the game tomorrow afternoon. And it is not alone the ad men they are helping. They are putting into the hands of the ad men material with which to help Atlanta.

RAKING THE JINGOES.

Among the most significant recent developments in the California-Japan controversy is the apparent awakening both in this country and Japan to the mischievous activities of the jingoes. Associated Press cables from Tokio report that feeling throughout the empire has abated its fiery excesses and that war talk is "denounced as ridiculous and only calculated to embarrass the two governments which are laboring for a peaceful settlement by diplomacy." On Sunday in Washington Mr. Bryan, addressing a Hague anniversary meeting, spoke in strong terms of the "subsidized patriotism" that sought to inflame sentiment that it might sell armorplate and protested against the harm done by "mercenary newspapers."

It is only necessary that the nation thoroughly understand the shallow premises and selfish motives of jingoism for it to lose its menace. It appeared at one time that the irresponsible element in Japan was bent upon embarrassing the Japanese government. But second sober thought on part of Japanese statesmanship and President Wilson's courage in showing that the country-at-large did not indorse the position of California has wrought a salutary change.

The best way to meet jingoistic fulminations is with calmness and logic; for one thing the jingo cannot survive is the shock of cold figures, facts and reasoning.

PAYING AS YOU ENTER.

The Nebraska State Journal believes that the humble trolley car of the "pay as you enter" variety can teach a lesson of economy and efficiency in these piping times of high living. Our contemporary would have men and women observe in everyday life the principle they follow when they board a street car and outlines the failure to do so as follows:

> This is an era when nearly everybody is living beyond his means. We are all poor, regardless of income. Persons whose business it is to know such things say the average month's wages in even so prosperous a state as Nebraska is spent before it is collected or even earned. Nearly everybody has bought things he had nothing to pay for. By not paying as he enters he gets into debt and for the rest of his life swims upstream. Were our grocer, clothier and sewgaw dealer as firm in a pay-as-you-enter policy as the street car company, we should be out of debt, and doubtless nobody would have starved under the strain.

Certainly one finds the nickel with which to pay trolley fare or he walks. The same rule applies to our dealings with Uncle Sam when we would mail a letter or a parcel. We must pay cash for the stamp or the government respectfully declines to move the letter or the package one foot.

It is, necessarily, impractical to apply the principle all down the line. Thousands of us who can dig up the small coin for street car fare or for the letter and package have to throw ourselves on the mercy of the grocer, the department store, the iceman and the coal merchant. But there could be with profit the inauguration of an era of less dependence upon credit and more upon cash. As The Journal says, the trouble grows mostly out of the prevalent American habit of exceeding income. If a salaried man, and that class composes by far the bulk of the population, gets a $5 raise it is generally the signal to spend $7.50 more a month, or week, as the case may be.

More of the "pay as you enter" doctrine would lessen this evil and reduce living expenses. And few of us would be much the less happy once we evicted the habit of keeping our pockets empty all the time.

THE WORLD AGAINST OPIUM.

Among the greatest achievements of the twentieth century will be the phenomenal success of the war against the opium habit. The event is given emphasis by the meeting at The Hague next month of the international opium conference. Through the co-operation of the governments of the United States and the Netherlands, it is probable that representatives of thirty-four nations, covering practically all civilization, will be present with power to act.

The most signal accomplishment of this crusade is, of course, the abolishment of opium from China. Success would have been impossible had it not been for the determined activity of the Chinese government. It had to combat not only the national appetite, deep-implanted, but it was also faced by the troublesome economic feature. A host of Chinese lived and made fortunes by growing opium and dealing in it. England counted on China, moreover, as the market for ninety-nine hundredths of her opium crop.

But the Chinese government went rigorously to work in full knowledge of the fact that the habit was undermining the nation. Its success is measured by the fact that today China is almost entirely free of the curse of the poppy. So earnest is the government that only recently reports tell of the execution of both men and women for violating the edicts against cultivation and disposal of the drug.

One of the drawbacks to completely driving opium from China was the British trade. Even now opium to the value of $60,000,000 is in warehouses at Shanghai, barred from the empire, but representing a very large part of the wealth of many Anglo-Indian merchants. It is said that the forthcoming Hague conferences hopes to complete arrangements whereby England will purchase this opium and thus remove one of the formidable obstacles to smooth progress.

If the world can unite and tread under foot one noxious drug, why cannot it do the same with all others? The manner in which opium has been handled is illustration of what the civilized nations can accomplish once they set aside prejudice and imaginative distrust and put their hands to a common plow.

Flags Never Become Rags.

The government sets an example to the whole country in requiring that worn out flags shall be burned and not permitted to become mere pieces of waste rag. Whether or not any special law or regulation governs the disposing of the flags, the universal practice of the army and navy for generations has been that whenever a flag is no longer fit for service, it shall be destroyed.

When a flag used at an army post or on board a naval vessel becomes unserviceable, writes the Washington correspondent of the Boston Transcript, a requisition of the quartermaster is made for a new one and the old one is burned. The same disposition is made of flags used on public buildings in Washington. Custodians of buildings outside Washington buy their flags outright of the government. Whether or not they follow the official plan of disposing of old flags cannot be stated.

Ponderous Personages

SOCRATES.

By GEORGE PEYER
Author of "At Good Old Siwash"

(Copyright, 1913, for The Constitution.)

Socrates was a crank who lived about 2,500 years ago when the climate was exceedingly unhealthy for cranks. The coroner's verdict on Socrates was that he died of too many ideas.

Socrates lived in Greece, which was about the only country worth living in in the fifth century B. C. He received a good Athens education which consisted at that time of athletics, sculpture and music, but instead of plying himself to business and producing his share of marble statues, he fritted away his time studying geometry, astronomy, Latin and other fads. He then married Xantippe, and soon afterwards began to spend all his time on the street corners under the pretense of discussing important subjects. But those who knew Xantippe's temper and her skill in hurling the flatiron laughed coarsely at this excuse.

Socrates was Hoplite for a while when a young man, but soon recovered or was released or failed of election—depending on what "Hoplite" was. Then he threw himself into the teaching of philosophy and spent the rest of h's life searching the dark and unfathomed chasms in the human understanding of those days. His method of teaching was to loaf on the street corner until he got a crowd and then get his admirers to ask him questions. Survivors of the free silver campaign of '96 will remember how easy it is to do the questioner and the administration into a french twist by this method.

Socrates lived to the age of 70, acquiring a long curly beard and a reputation for being able to silence any one in Greece on any subject in a catch-as-catch-can debate. He disagreed with everything the Athenians believed in and even attempted to reform some of the old Gods. This aroused the fire of the republicans, who condemned him to death. However, he could have escaped on a technicality if he had not been so argumentative. But he took the ground that he was entitled to a pension instead of death and argued about it until the authorities made him drink hemlock to shut off the debate.

Socrates invented a philosophy and method of reasoning which endured for many ages, and was the wisest man of his time, but a notoriously poor provider, living in rags from choice, which compels the belief that Xantippe has been greatly maligned by history.

THE SAME POD.

By Philip Weltner, Secretary Prison Association of Georgia.

The public does not fear a burglar because he feloniously broke and entered a dwelling in the night time. The public fears a burglar because his very burglary tends to prove the probability of his committing further outrages if left at large.

Does the fact that a 17-year-old boy stole a ride on a freight train evidence a criminal disposition? The burglar and the boy are serving out criminal sentences in the same camp, and are subjected to the same conditions. They are in the same pod. Are they alike?

To take away the dangerous is right and proper.

To take away the thoughtless or unfortunate and class them with the dangerous is stupid.

Our courts do not concern themselves enough with the personalities of the accused. They measure the good and the bad by a rule of thumb. The law must equip our courts with ascertaining character, as well as guilt.

Two men may be technically guilty of the same charge. The guilt of the one may be the natural out-cropping of an evil life; the guilt of the other may be totally foreign to his nature. They may be as different as two distant stars. Our courts would never know it.

Are both classes to be treated alike? Like treatment makes like men. Confront a judge with this situation. He will protest that there is nothing for him to do but sentence the convicted offender. The law only gives him a choice between a fine, the chaingang, or state farm. It is not his fault that the poor are too poor to pay a fine. Therefore, the poor must serve.

There is only one way of escape. The supreme court has held that our courts have no right to suspend the sentences of those whom it is not necessary to confine. The law must confer upon the courts this power. Practice has proven the method safe, and conscience shows it to be right.

Stop the manufacture of criminals out of the thoughtless and unfortunate. Let us give our judges an opportunity to help and not damn. If the criminal laws of Georgia were not designed to help, more the shame and greater the need for speedy revision.

There are hundreds of boys who never should have gone to the gang. Had the judge been allowed to suspend their sentences and placed them under the kindly authority of a probation officer, Georgia would not now be supporting a criminal population of over five thousand. And this number does not include the several thousand more in the various municipal prisons and workhouses.

Even society cannot afford to make a fool of itself.

Many in Washington take their's "straight," for fear of being known as grape juice statesmen.

The Colonel would never accept the kingship of Albania, for in that event he would be deprived of the joy of running for office every little while.

No fun at all—this job of president, drinking grape juice and wondering what's coming next.

The World's Mysteries

WHERE WAS CROMWELL BURIED?

Macaulay, in his "History of England," says, regarding Oliver Cromwell: "It has often been affirmed, but with little reason, that Oliver died at a time fortunate for his renown, and that, if his life had been prolonged it would probably have closed amid disgraces and disasters. It is certain that he was, to the last, honored by his soldiers, obeyed by the whole population, and dreaded by all foreign powers; that he was laid among the ancient sovereigns of England with funeral pomp such as London had never before seen." Later on in the same volume the historian says: "The rapid decomposition of Cromwell's corpse was ascribed by many to a deadly potion administered in his medicine."

Macaulay doubts the poison theory. In spite of this there seems to have been some mystery in the suddenness of the death of the protector and still more so in the burial. Writers with a considerable amount of authority have affirmed that the Cromwell funeral in Westminster Abbey was a mock one and that Oliver was buried near his daughter, Mrs. Claypole, in Northamptonshire.

Shortly after Cromwell's death, it will be remembered, came the restoration, and in a mean revenge the body of Cromwell was torn from its sanctuary, together with that of Ireton and Bradshaw, two of his generals, and exposed upon the gallows at Tyburn. An historian speaks of the bodies as the "odious carcasses." Was the public able to recognize the countenance of a man who had been dead so many years? Was the body that was exposed at Tyburn that of Cromwell? Even Macaulay speaks of the "rapid decomposition of the corpse."

One writer contended Cromwell was buried in the Thames, and Oldmixon says "the deepest part of the Thames was selected." Another writer says it was in Red Lion Square. He notes that when Cromwell died his body was partly embalmed by Bates, and immediately afterward buried—the question is—where? And that "the waxen effigy representing the body, during the subsequent lying in state and public funeral; which effigy was, in June 1660, hung out of the windows of Whitehill."

"The Complete History of England" is was a great confidant of Cromwell, and presents some facts that seem reasonable. From this source it is learned that the friends of Cromwell, appreciating that there was likely to be a change in the ruling powers, desired that his body should be deposited in a greater place of safety than Westminster, and therefore selected the battlefield of Naseby.

Barkstead, the lieutenant of the tower, was a great confidant of Cromwell, and among other of his confidants at the time of his illness desired to know where he would be buried. To this inquiry the protector answered: "Where I obtained the greatest victory and glory, and as nigh the spot as could be guessed where the heat of the action was."

Barkstead is thus quoted: "At midnight, soon after his death, the body, being emin a hearse conveyed in a leaden coffin, was in a hearse conveyed to the said field. That being come to the field they found about the midst of it a grave dug about nine feet deep, with the green sod carefully laid on one side and the mold on the other, in which the coffin being put, the grave was instantly filled up, and the green sod laid exactly flat upon it, care being taken that the surplus mold should be clean removed. That soon after the like care was taken the ground was ploughed up, and it was sowed successfully with corn."

Henry Lockinge, a curate of Naseby, in a paper entitled "Historical Gleanings on the Memorable Field of Naseby," published in 1820, says: "I have been able to adduce evidence, apparently satisfactory, which leaves the protector's remains slumbering uncommemorated, beneath the turf of Naseby Field."

Thus it would seem that historians such as Macauley and others have been misinformed regarding Cromwell's body having been deposited in Westminster Abbey, and that a waxen effigy was used; but where the body of the great protector rests no one can say with certainty.

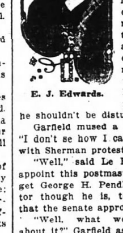
New News of Yesterday

Beating John Sherman in Matter of a Postmaster.

(Copyright, 1913, for The Constitution.)

Benjamin Le Fevre, who for many years represented, as a democrat one of the Ohio districts in congress, gained the reputation of being the best-liked democrat, at least upon the republican side of the house. He was a very intimate personal friend of James A. Garfield. When Garfield desired to secure democratic support in a marked measure all that was necessary for him to do was to commit the matter to Benjamin Le Fevre. On the other hand, when Le Fevre was anxious to secure some favor which the republicans could grant he had only to intimate to General Garfield what he wanted.

After General Garfield became president the old intimacy between himself and Le Fevre was maintained. For this reason Le Fevre appealed with confidence one day to President Garfield for the reappointment of a postmaster in one of the larger towns in Le Fevre's district.



E. J. Edwards.

Le Fevre said to Garfield: "John Sherman intends to appoint one of his followers postmaster in one of the towns of my district, and I don't want it done. The present postmaster lost a leg in the war. He is a republican, but he is a mighty good fellow and he shouldn't be disturbed."

Garfield mused a moment and then said, "I don't se how I can appoint a postmaster with Sherman protesting."

"Well," said Le Fevre, "if you will reappoint this postmaster today I think I can get George H. Pendleton, democratic senator though he is, to agree to recommend that the senate approve the nomination."

"Well, what would John Sherman do about it?" Garfield asked.

"Oh, Sherman isn't in the senate today. He is in Ohio and won't be back until day after tomorrow."

"Well," said Garfield, "if you can get George Pendleton to say that he will recommend the immediate confirmation of the reappointment of this postmaster I will send the name to the senate today."

Le Fevre, shortly after General Garfield's death, told a company of friends in my presence just what happened after he left President Garfield. "I suppost," said General Le Fevre, "that there have been cases when a democratic or a republican senator has warmly recommended the appointment to some office of a man of the opposite party, but I don't believe there is a case on record that parallels what George Pendleton did in a few weeks at the special session of the senate in 1861. General Garfield told me that if I could get Colonel Pendleton to agree to recommend the reappointment of a republican postmaster in one of the towns of my district he would send the appointment to the senate, but it would have to be done while John Sherman was away in Ohio, because Sherman had another man for that place.

"I went straight from the White House to the capitol and I saw Senator Pendleton. I told him all about the postmaster. I said he was a republican and had lost a leg in the war. I said that John Sherman wanted to turn him out and get one of his own men appointed, but that Garfield had said that if Senator Pendleton would agree to recommend the confirmation of the appointment then the nomination would be sent to the senate, but the senate would have to act upon it before Sherman got back.

"Well, George Pendleton acted like a man—he always did, for that matter. He told me that he would recommend to the senate immediately to confirm the appointment, if it went into the senate that day. I communicated at once with Garfield and he sent the appointment to the senate. That afternoon the senate went into executive session. Pendleton made a beautiful speech.

OBSCURITY

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Obscurity is a wonderful School. For in its Classrooms and before its Teachers, we are all a common lot of Pupils—none favored above the others. And the Instruction is personal, individual, direct—and thorough.

It is during the years of Obscurity that great Characters germinate large Powers—and Grow.

Alone in Obscurity, a man gets close to himself. He reaches out for the realities—then dissects, analyzes—studies with care, the minutest problems of Life. He learns what manner of man he himself is, and then to fathom from his own conclusions, the aims and purposes of other men. It is only after Obscurity has taught its lesson well, that a man finds the strength to lift himself out of Obscurity.

Obscurity teaches Discrimination. Discrimination is the Advance Agent of Common Sense and Sound Judgment.

You begin to learn when your Eyes get strong enough to see the Truth. Then you become susceptible to Ideas. You grow when you train your Mind to quickly discern the True from the False. Obscurity makes you keen. It saturates you with Genuineness. It develops your finer Qualities. It makes you Master of Responsibility.

Smile in Obscurity. For in the end, Obscurity is but the School of Achievement.

If you will but take Heart and Hope, the knowledge you gained in Obscurity will spur and inspire you—will guide you through the simplest and the most difficult situation, for in it is a Message of Encouragement which is able to grip you by the hand with ardor and earnest Faith. So, fight on, courageously—for from the School of Obscurity there is a day of Graduation if you but Will it to be.

But remember this. Many remain as Teachers in the School of Obscurity. And the True Historian records them as the Heroes of each Day and each Age.

I won't tell you how I know it, because no one is supposed to be present excepting senators and senate officers when the senate is in executive session. Pendleton's speech was a beautiful tribute to the soldiers, especially to those who were wounded. He said that the postmaster in question, Edwards, had just been sent to the senate by President Garfield was a man of bravery, a man of integrity, a splendid citizen, even though he were a republican. Furthermore, Pendleton said that he would consider it an honor if the senate were to confirm the appointment immediately.

"Well, the senate took Pendleton at his word. The nomination was instantly and unanimously confirmed, but, my! wasn't John Sherman mad when he got back to the senate and found out what had been done!"

The Bravest Battle.

The bravest battle that ever was fought;
Shall I tell you where and when?
On the maps of the world you will find it not:
It was fought by the mothers of men.

Nay, not with cannon or battle shot,
With sword or nobler pen:
Nay, not with eloquent word or thought,
From mouths of wonderful men.

But deep in a wall-up woman's heart—
Of woman that would not yield;
But patiently, silently bore her part—
Lo! there in that battlefield.

No marshaling troop, no bivouac song:
No banner to gleam and wave:
And oh! these battles they last so long—
From babyhood to the grave!

Yet, faithful still as a bridge of stars,
She fights in her walled-up town—
Fights on and on in the endless wars,
Then silent, unseen—goes down.

MRS. LONGSTREET TELLS HER STORY

Discusses Before Senate Committee Her Removal—She Blames Power Company and Political Enemies

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, May 19.—(Special)—Mrs. Helen D. Longstreet, widow of General James Longstreet, appeared before the senate-committee on postoffices and post roads today, and for three hours discussed her removal from the Gainesville postoffice. She was accompanied by Mrs. William H. Felton, of Cartersville, who also made a statement.

That a president born in Virginia of southern parents should have removed the widow of a great Confederate soldier from an office to which she had been appointed by President Roosevelt, and retained by President Taft, republican presidents seemed to Mrs. Long Longstreet to be inconcilile.

Next to that, her greatest concern seemed to be the statement of the postoffice department that her office had ben badly managed. She read a great number of statements from patrons of the office, who testified that she had made one of the best postmasters Gainesville ever had. She did not protest against the nomination of Mrs. H. W. Hare, and offered no objection to the latter's confirmation. President Wilson, she consigned to the attention of the American people, that the president had declined to give her an audience, though she and her Gainesville friends and supporters had petitioned for one, was admitted by her to be a great disappointment. She had been told by the secretary to the president, she said, had been badly managed. She read a rule not to see office-seekers.

She Expressed Amazement.

Frequently during her recital of her alleged wrongs, Mrs. Longstreet paused to express amazement that the author of "The New Freedom" could have treated her with the lack of consideration which she charged the president has shown toward her.

Mrs. Longstreet was dressed in white chiffon worn over silk, with a white serge skirt and white shoes. Her white straw hat had a bow of blue ribbon, and she wore a white veil. She spoke with a rather musical drawling voice, and punctuated her addresses with sustained flights of flowery eloquence. Particularly, when speaking of General Longstreet, she spoke with the tenderest feeling. The most touching moment of her appeal was when she said that she had offered her exsecrementring as security for money borrowed to fight for the reclamation of Tallulah Falls.

On entering the committee room, Mrs. Longstreet commended upon the absence of Senator Hoke Smith.

"Where is Senator Smith, of Georgia? I thought he was a member of this committee?" she remarked.

She was informed that it was a subcommittee that was named to hear her. Present were Senators Swanson, of Virginia; Bryan, of Florida; Vardaman, of Mississippi; Bristow, of Kansas, and Townsend, of Michigan. Representative Bell, of Georgia, was also present, but took no part.

Mrs. Longstreet was heard with the greatest respect, and permitted to talk uninterruptedly. She read a large number of letters, indorsing her record, indorsing her administration of the office into the official report.

"President Taft was urged by the Water Power Trust company to remove me," she told the senators. "He refused. While he did not send in my name for reappointment, he refrained for fear it would not be confirmed.

"I do not believe President Wilson knows the least thing about this postoffice situation. I cannot believe the man who wrote 'The New Freedom' would have done so discreditble a thing to me.

"You have never talked to the president?" asked Senator Vardaman.

"I never had the chance," replied Mrs. Longstreet. "My friends made every effort to get an appointment for me, but Mr. Tumulty always answered very promptly and very courteously that the president could not see office-seekers."

Tallulah Falls Fight.

Mrs. Longstreet went at length into the history of the movement to wrest Tallulah Falls from the control of the Georgia Railway and Electric company. She also traced her family history from the landing of Oglethorpe. She told the committee she was General Longstreet's second wife, and that she was penniless, having spent $12,000 in waging the fight for Tallulah Falls.

"Mrs. Ham is an admirable woman, but she is not in good health, and has never had a day's experience in business in her life," said Mrs. Longstreet, in speaking of her successor.

"My head has been taken off by the Georgia spoilsmen who sit with carving knives at the counter, but I do not believe there is a fair-minded democrat between the tides but who will sympathize with my desire not to be kicked out and have my record of efficiency blackened."

Senator Bryan, of Florida, asked Mrs. Longstreet what specific evidence she had of the acticity of the so-called trust against her as postmistress.

"You wouldn't expect the administration to say they turned me out to suit the Georgia Railway and Power company, would you?" she returned.

She referred to the activity of two men against her. "They wouldn't file anything against me," she said. "They would go and whisper something in somebody's ear."

"Oh, she knows them all right," exclaimed Senator Bristow.

Mrs. Longstreet said she did not ask reinstatement, but sought to reply to Postmaster General Burleson's statement that her office was poorly managed. She referred to Mr. Burleson as "President Wilson's 60-day postmaster general."

Refers to General Longstreet.

"The immortal commander whose name I bear, who resigned a commission in the American army to follow the banners of the south until the last blankiess one was furled at Appomattox and thenceforth found himself an outcast in the land whose battlefields had run red with his heroic blood," declared Mrs. Longstreet, "was not made to suffer more than I have been made to suffer at the hands of that branch of democracy which in the saddle down in the good old democratic state of Georgia in the year that has placed a Virginia gentleman in the white house."

Representative Bell listened to Mrs. Longstreet, and he smiled when she apologized to him for phrases in letters she read in which statements were made that she was thrown out of office to meet the demands of "slick-tongued politicians."

Declaring that during the eight years she had been postmistress she had brought her office to a high grade of efficiency, and had carried out her creed of democracy into a democracy of deeds, she said: "Maybe that is why Postmaster General Burleson says the postoffice was in bad condition," she argued.

Mrs. Felton for Mrs. Longstreet.

Mrs. Felton, widow of the late W. H. Felton, for several years a member of congress, addressed the committee in Mrs. Longstreet's behalf. She said she came to Washington without the knowledge of Mrs. Longstreet.

"We widows of Georgia do not go to war upon one another," she told the committee.

According to Mrs. Felton the postoffice had been taken away from Mrs. Longstreet because in the last election she had supported Theodore Roosevelt.

"With all the great questions before the country, the attack upon this woman seems to me to be childish politics," said Mrs. Felton.

Mrs. Felton said Mrs. Longstreet had made a good record. She said political feeling had reached a dangerous state when such a woman was put out of office.

was given the floor to urge the importance of union. He made an earnest plea for closer relations between the evangelical churches of the Presbyterian faith showing that there was a strong union between the powers of evil and that this could only be overcome by a union of the forces fighting them. There were economical reasons sufficient to bring about union among Presbyterian churches if no other and higher reasons were sought for.

Time Not Yet Ripe.

Replying on behalf of the assembly, the moderator, Dr. Lyons, thanked Dr. Prentiss for his talk, which he characterized as the event of the assembly, but concluded that the time was not yet ripe for a union of the church bodies holding the Presbyterian faith. He hoped that, in the providence of God, the time would come when they could all get together and advance against the forces of evil with a united front.

Aside from the report of Dr. Campbell, the entire afternoon session was consumed in hearing the report of Dr. W. L. Lingle, of Richmond, chairman of the standing committee on systematic beneficence. This committee revised the report of the permanent committee on systematic beneficence and suggested some changes therein. On the adoption of the report section by section, there were a number of sharp contests on the floor of the assembly.

The first contest was on the change recommended by the permanent committee in the ratio in which the sums raised for beneficent causes should be distributed. The committee recommended that, instead of 60 per cent as heretofore, 54 per cent should be assigned to foreign missions; 27 per cent to home missions instead of 21 per cent; 14½ per cent to Christian education and ministerial relief instead of 14 per cent; 3½ per cent to Sunday school publications instead of 4 per cent. The 1 per cent assigned to the diffusion of the Bible remained the same. The standing committee reported adversely on these changes and recommended that the old ratios stand. Rev. J. M. Cheney offered as a substitute the original report of the permanent committee.

Conflict Over Division.

There was a sharp conflict between the friends of foreign missions, whose percentage it was sought to have reduced, and the friends of home missions. Before the vote was taken the secretaries of the various executive committees were invited forward to present the needs of their respective causes.

Dr. A. W. Smith spoke for foreign missions. He urged that at this time when there was a great advance movement on among all evangelical denominations in the foreign fields, it would be most regrettable for southern Presbyterians alone to sound a retreat.

"If you take this action," concluded Dr. Smith, "the committee on foreign missions will retract absolutely the promise to keep out of debt for we can't. You may expect a deficit of $150,000."

Dr. S. L. Morris, secretary of the committee for home missions, replying, took Dr. Smith sharply to task, charging him with having secretly conferred with members of the standing committee, in order to have them report the old ratios. Dr. Smith at this point interrupted the speaker, and with some heat declared that he had done no such thing. He had not seen members of the permanent committee in regard to reporting the old ratio, he said. He was called to order by the moderator and told not to interrupt the speaker further, but that he would be given an opportunity of explaining later.

Wanted Ratio Changed.

Dr. H. H. Sweets and Dr. R. E. Magill, of the committee on Christian education and ministerial relief and Sunday schools, respectively spoke in favor of changing the ratio and giving 54 per cent to foreign missions.

At the conclusion of their speeches, Dr. Smith arose and asked for permission to address the assembly on a matter of personal privilege, but there was objection. As the moderator had told him that he might be heard again, however, the objection was withdrawn. Dr. Smith denied that he had interrupted Dr. Morris in anger, and then entered upon an argument in behalf of increased contributions for foreign missions.

For this he was called to order and a vote ordered after prayers offered by Dr. Strickler and Dr. Lowrie for the direction of God in their deliberations. When the question was put the Tuskegee Institute for the committee report, the chair declared that the ayes had carried it. This meant a defeat for Dr. Smith and a reduction of the percentage devoted to foreign missions to 54 per cent.

Campaign Committee's Work.

Dr. Macauley spoke of the great work being done by the campaign committee on evangelism and stewardship, which is planning to raise $200,000 for equipment and $600,000 for reinforcement within the next three years. This money is to be used both in the foreign and the home field.

The next question which divided the assembly was one raised by the women's societies who had asked for permission to certain women to send their contributions directly to the treasurers of the executive committees of the four causes of the church, instead of having them go through the church treasurers as heretofore. They complained that no distinct account was kept of the money contributed by them, and they desired that there should be separate accounts kept as a basis for statistics. After some discussion, during which Dr. S. H. Chester presented the cause of the women, the amendment of Mr. Cheney that the church treasurers be instructed to keep separate accounts of the funds contributed by women's societies was voted down, ayes 2; nays 93. The report of the committee which left the matter largely with the presbyteries was then adopted.

Change Is Voted Down.

The committee proposed a change in rally day for the Sunday schools from the first Sunday in November to the last Sunday in September, but as the change was opposed by Dr. Magill, secretary of the committee on Sunday schools, it was voted down, and the first Sunday in October allowed to stand.

The permanent committee on systematic beneficence recommended that the following amounts be raised for the four assembly causes and the American Bible society for the year 1913-14; foreign missions, $574,560; assembly home missions, $287,280; Christian education and ministerial relief, $140,280; Sunday school work and publication, $37,240; Bible cause, $10,640. Total, $1,064,000.

The consideration of the report of the standing committee on systematic beneficence will be concluded at the morning session today.

STONE ANSWERS POLITICS CHARGE

Moderator of Northern Assembly Says, "We Are Here to Do the Work of the Lord."

"I believe in my God, I believe in my brother, and I believe in doing my duty," said Moderator Stone, at the opening of Monday's session of the northern Presbyterian assembly, in reference to certain charges that he had been elected by political pull among the commissioners.

"We are here to do the work of the Lord," he continued. "We have no right to deal in personalities. I believe that the newspapers are trying to help do the Lord's work with us. If any have erred in judgement, let me overlook it."

Admirers of Moderator Stone who were influenced in his election absolutely denied the story of the New York Herald, that politics had a part in his election.

CINCINNATI STRIKERS HAVE SCORED VICTORY

Cincinnati, May 19.—The most serious street car strike this city has ever known was ended tonight when representatives of the Cincinnati Traction company and of the street car man's union came to an agreement whereby car service will be resumed tomorrow.

The men won recognition of their recently formed union, but in return conceded the o"pen shop" principle. The company also pledges itself to an increase of wages to all union and non-union employees without discrimination. The amount of increase is subject to arbitration.

Employees discharged after the union was formed and before the strike was declared shall be reinstated.

The strike was declared May 9, and has resulted in a complete tie-up of street car transportation since then.

A. & M. SCHOOL HEADS DISCUSS STUDY COURSE

Athens, Ga., May 19.—(Special.)—An important meeting of the principals of the district agricultural high schools was concluded here tonight at the state college of agriculture, where these heads of the secondary institutions of this class conferred with President Soule, Professor J. S. Stewart, of the university, and the faculty of the state college, informing the revised course of study for these schools.

These schools now are ranked by the government higher than similar institutions of any of the other southern states.

Those here for the conference were Professors Maxwell, of Barnesville; Davis, of Douglas; Gay, of Clarkesville; Acree, of Madison; White, of Sparta; Walker, of Monroe; Hunt, of Powder Springs, and others, with several members of the boards of trustees present also.

DR. BIEDERWOLF HERE TO HOLD BIG REVIVAL

For a week's revival seres of noon meetings at the Grand, Dr. W. E. Biederwolf, the world-famous evangelist, arrived in Atlanta yesterday. With the city already in the grip of three great Presbyterian assemblies, Dr. Biederwolf begins his evangelistic campaign. The national male quartet, consisting of four of the best-known revival singers in the country, sings daily at the meetings at 12:15 o'clock. Dr. Biederwolf is planning to continue his series until the close of the assemblies next Friday, and at that time he will leave for Panama with the large party of Presbyterians that are getting ready to make the trip to the canal zone. The party will leave next Friday, and will be gone three weeks, ending the trip in Atlanta on June 11.

WIFE IS NOT BOUND TO FOLLOW HUSBAND

Kansas City, May 19.—The Kansas City court of appeals today overthrew the doctrine that a wife is bound to follow her husband wherever he goes. The ruling was in the case of James Collet, who sued his wife, Mary, for divorce, because she declined to go with him to a farm. The Vernon county court refused the decree and the court of appeals sustained this ruling.

"She was not bound to follow him, and if he chose to go and live alone in peace, her act does not constitute desertion," said the decision.

SLEEPING CAR BERTHS UP TO SUPREME COURT

Washington, May 19.—Whether states have the right under the federal constitution to enact a law prohibiting the "making down" of sleeping car berths before they are actually sold, will be passed upon by the supreme court of the United States.

The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway company today filed an appeal from the action of the Wisconsin courts in upholding the validity of the Wisconsin law, to this effect. The Wisconsin courts held that in the absence of federal regulation on the point, the state could enforce the law.

CHURCHES UNITE IN NEGRO WORK

The Executive Committee of Council of Reform Churches in America Recommend Co-Operation in Big Field.

For the first time since the negro problem came into existence, the executive committee of the council of the reformed churches in America, which includes all branches of Presbyterian faith, has gone on record as recommending co-operation in work among the negroes.

Heretofore, except in rare instances, each reformed church or Presbyterian church, has had its own mission in a certain field, no matter how many other missions of a different Presbyterian church there might be.

But after hearing Dr. J. S. Lyons, of Louisville, Ky., moderator of the southern Presbyterian assembly, plead for co-operation in negro work, the executive committee of the council, which is in Atlanta at the present time, called a hurried session after the mass meeting in the auditorium, and went on record as urging this work of co-operation.

Great Move for Co-operation.

for co-operation among the churches of any faith for work among the negroes, or any other race, in the history of the world," said Dr. W. J. Darby, of Evansville, Ind., and secretary of the council.

"Every assembly being held here at the present time is a member of this council, and we urge that they adopt our recommendations this morning. It will mean that there will be no more overlapping in our negro mission work, and it may lead to co-operation in other lines. It is certainly the greatest thing which the council has ever done."

The question of adopting this resolution will come up this morning in the three assemblies. It is thought, and there will be very little doubt of its falling to pass, it is said.

The recommendation in full, is as follows:

"To the general assemblies of the Presbyterian churches now in session in Atlanta, to the general synod of the Reformed church in America, to meet at Ocean Grove, New Jersey, June, 1913, and to the general synod of the reformed church in the United States to meet at Lancaster, Pa., May, 1914, Beloved brethren:

"In furtherance of the general principle of co-operation and particularly of that type of co-operation set forth in item 3, of the resolution adopted by you, by our suggestion a year ago, said item relating to work among the colored people in the cities, the permanent committee that was brought into existence by your bodies, at the suggestion of the council of the Presbyterian and Reformed churches, beg leave to submit to you the following recommendation:

Co-operative Mission Work.

"That in communities where there is considerable negro population, and where two or more churches of the council are represented, and particularly where there exists or may be organized a negro Presbyterian church, the session or consistorie of said churches should be urged to undertake some form of co-operative mission work in behalf of the colored people of their respective locality.

"We further suggest that Presbyterians and classes be requested to see that this recommendation has due consideration in such localities within their bounds as meet the conditions as here represented.

"To insure a supply of well-trained lay workers for the lines of service here proposed, in addition to the present work heretofore commended for the large colored populations in the cities of the south, we recommend that the management of Knoxville college, Knoxville, Tenn., be requested to consider the propriety of establishing and maintaining a department for such training.

"For other methods of co-operation of the churches of the council, reference is made to the resolution adopted a year ago, and which we would be pleased to have you reaffirm and commend to the agencies concerned. Respectfully submitted by the executive committee: J. G. Snedecor, chairman, of Tuscaloosa, Ala.; W. J. Darby, secretary, Evansville, Ind.; Charles E. Schaeffer, Philadelphia; R. P. Cowan, Pittsburg, and R. W. McGranahan, of Knoxville college, Knoxville, Tenn."

Daniels Celebrates Birthday.

Raleigh, N. C., May 19.—Returning from Washington, N. C., his birthplace, where he celebrated his fifty-second birthday, Josephus Daniels, secretary of the navy, tonight returned to his duties in the national capital. He paid a brief visit to his paper here, The News and Courier, which yesterday was issued the first time in its own quarters since the fire.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McLarty announce the marriage of their daughter, Margaret Effie, to Edgar Brown Hilley, on Sunday, May 11, Rev. C. A. Ridley, pastor Central Baptist church officiating.

Altrurian Society.

The Altrurian society announces class meetings Monday and Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock and Thursday morning at 11 o'clock in the Altrurian bookroom, 500 Hillyer building.

All students of altrurian, ethics, occultism philosophy, etc., are invited to attend these meetings.

The bookroom is open every day from 9 until 1 o'clock, and all interested are invited to call. Books may be rented.

Nurses Graduate.

The class of 1913 of Wesley Memorial hospital training school have issued invitations to their graduating exercises, Friday evening, May 23, at 8 o'clock, at Wesley Memorial church, Atlanta, Ga.

"Endymion" to Be Feature.

The classes play "Endymion," adopted from Keat's beautiful poem, will be given by the Hanna school, assisted by the best local talent of Atlanta. Miss Theodosia Warfield will open the third act with one of her beautiful dances, and a number of beautiful solos will be sung by Miss Mamie Clyburn, whose beautiful voice has so often charmed Atlanta audiences.

Miss Hanna's school, by its benefit commencements, has added many benevolent instruction of Georgia, chiefly those that are educational, and the school's own library fund will receive this year's returns.

To Miss Boyd.

Miss Carolyn King will entertain 100 guests for 5 o'clock tea Wednesday, to meet Miss Elizabeth Boyd, of Nashville. The company will include both young ladies and young men.

Miss Eloise Oliver's bridge will be Thursday. Miss Ruth Northen's matinee party Saturday and a series of informal luncheons and other courtesies.

Miss Traynham's Reception.

Miss Dorothy Traynham's reception yesterday afternoon was a delightful occasion in compliment to the members of the senior class of which she is president, and the faculty of Washington seminary.

Miss Traynham's home on Peachtree road was beautifully decorated with a wealth of sweet peas and roses. Pink roses were artistically placed on the drawing room, where the guests were received, and in the dining room, all of the details of decoration were in pink and white. Bowls of sweet peas were on mantel and buffet, and a plateau of the same flowers was the centerpiece of the pretty table. Silver candlesticks had pink shades, and the bonbons, ices and cakes were pink. In all of the other apartments crimson rambler roses were used.

Punch was served in the hall, Misses Harriett Haynes and Marcellus Hallman presiding at the punch bowl.

Miss Traynham wore a gown of blue and white chiffon combined with lace.

Birthday Party.

Mrs. John Kiser's beautiful flower garden, back of the Kiser home on Eleventh street, was the setting for a delightful children's party yesterday afternoon, when the sixth birthday of Master John Kiser was celebrated. A tall barrel, decorated with pink and white tareton, was the fish pond, and many merry games were played during the afternoon.

The birthday table was set under a French canopy and a large cake embossed in pink roses and decorated with six pink candles, was the central decoration. At the four corners of the table were bowls of sweet peas. The spun candy balls were pink and white, as were all of the decorative details at the table.

The ices were frozen in the shape of fire engines, drawn by horses for the boys, and a goose with Mother Goose on its back for the girls. There were appropriate souvenirs for each guest.

Those present were: Palmer Ellis, Mary Goddard, Porter and Martha Morrow, Henry Johnson, III., Doughty Manbry, Jr., George and Sarah Adair, Albert Howell, III., Hollins Eastman, Phoebe Rhett, Mary Eleanor Evins, Abner Calhoun, James Calhoun, Phinzy Calhoun, Carroll Payne Jones, Roby Robinson, Jr., Frances McKenzie, Virginia Harris, Frances and Thomas Arnold, Augustus Loyless, James Williams, Jr., Palma Atkinson, Roy Collier, Jr., Katherine Hamphries, George Stevens, ack Hays, Jr., Louise Pappenheimer, Robert Wood, Jr., Donivon Owens, Colquitt Carter, Jr., and Julia Frances.

Mr. and Mrs. Hearst Leave.

To the regret of their Atlanta friends Mr. and Mrs. William Randolph Hearst leave Atlanta today for New York. They will entertain the secretary of the navy and his party at dinner the night preceding the unveiling ceremonies of the monument to the heroes of the Maine, and return to New York for those occasions.

Mrs. Hearst, whose beauty cleverness and social graces distinguish her was very much interested during her brief visit here in the work of Georgia women and graciously consented to an interview which Mrs. John Marshall Slaton has written for the Woman's Edition of The Constitution, to be published by the Georgia Federation of Woman's clubs in June.

Mrs. Slaton is state editor of the Woman's Edition, and found little difficulty in interviewing the gifted lady from the north, for Mrs. Hearst is not only the owner of the Cosmopolitan magazine and the Motorist, but through her interest in these and her husband's many publications, she has familiarized herself with the requirements of newspaper and magazine matter and she knew just what would make a "good story" for Mrs. Slaton's department in the Woman's Edition.

To Mr. and Mrs. Seydel.

In compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Seydel, of New York who arrived yesterday to visit Dr. and Mrs. Vason Woolley, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Duncan will entertain at dinner tonight at the Brookhaven club. Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Ellis, Jr., will entertain Wednesday night at the Piedmont Driving club. Dr. and Mrs. Woolley's tea will be an event of Thursday afternoon, and Mrs. James Jackson will give a matinee party Saturday.

A recent tribute to Mrs. Seydel's social charm was her election to the presidency of the Dixie club in New York, where she speedily found the same popularity which was the appreciation of her Atlanta friends for her many lovable qualities. Mrs. Seydel succeeded Mrs. A. M. Anderson, who was Miss Martha Goode, also of Atlanta.

To Mr. and Mrs. Wellhouse.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Byck will entertain informally at dinner tonight at the Georgian Terrace in compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wellhouse, who leave on the 28th to spend the summer abroad. The party will number eight.

Miss Stephens' Tea.

Miss Nan Stephens' afternoon tea will be a large event of this afternoon at her home on Briar Cliff road, in Druid Hills, in compliment to Miss Ada Turner and Miss Muriel Hall brides-elect.

Assisting in entertaining will be: Mrs. Lyman Hall, Mrs. J. D. Turner, Miss Anne Mitchell, Mrs. John C. Turner, Mrs. William Comer, Miss Mariam Woodward, Miss Fannie Turner.

To Entertain Club.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Jenkins will entertain their club this evening at their home on Gordon street at dinner, after which the game of 42 will be played. The members of the club are: Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Byers, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Booth, Mr. and Mrs. George Dowman, Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Lair, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. McEachern, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Harper, Mr. and Mrs. William T. Poole and Mr. and Mrs. R. H. White.

To Visitors.

Miss Carr, of St. Louis and Miss Scott, of Arkansas, guests of Dr. and Mrs. Bates Block, will be the guests of honor at a series of parties up to the time of Miss Carr's departure for home on Thursday.

Last night there was a theater party at the Forsyth.

Miss Katherine Ellis will entertain today at luncheon.

Mrs. Smith Pickett will give a bowling party this afternoon at the Driving club.

Tonight Mr. and Mrs. Huck Bancker will entertain at dinner.

Wednesday night Col. and Mrs. Robert J. Lowry will entertain at dinner.

Christening Reception.

The christening of Clarence Woodward Blosser, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Blosser, was a beautiful service Sunday afternoon at 4:30 at All Saints' Episcopal church.

Dr. W. W. Memminger officiated, and the baby's godfathers were Dr. Roy Blosser and Mr. Paul Woodward, of New Orleans, the latter by proxy.

Afterwards Mr. and Mrs. Blosser entertained informally at their handsome new home on Myrtle street, their guests including the lively five close friends who had witnessed the ceremony.

The house had artistic decorations in bride roses and white carnations, and delicious refreshments were served from the dining room, where a prettily appointed tea table had its decoration in pink and white, ice cream in the shape of lilies.

The spacious living room was the scene of delightful music. The grand piano stands on a dais or platform which extends across one end, and the ceiling reaching the height of the second story tones music of concert volume down to drawing room limitations.

Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Brooks, Miss Linnie Blosser, Mr. Blosser, and Dr. Roy Blosser, contributed to an informal programme.

Mrs. Blosser was lovely in white embroidered voile, and the central figure of the occasion, Clarence Woodward Blosser, was a picture of pink and white bloom, robed handsomely in sheerest white mulle and lace.

Gov.'s Daughter to Graduate.

Governor and Mrs. Joseph M. Brown will go to Athens Friday to be present at the commencement exercises of the Lucy Cobb Institute, from which their daughter, Miss Cora McCord Brown, will be graduated on Tuesday the 27th.

Miss Brown is one of the brightest, prettiest, and most popular of the Lucy Cobb students. She is president of her class, winner of the cup for a three years' tennis championship, and a central figure in all the school girl activities and achievements.

Spiker the president of the Atlanta center, will explain the purpose of the Drama league. The meeting is at 4 o'clock in the eOrgian Terrace hotel.

Mrs. Moore to Entertain.

Mrs. Wilmer L. Moore will entertain at luncheon today at the Driving Club in honor of her guest Mrs. Jennings, of Germantown, Pa. Mrs. Jennings was the beautiful Miss Mattie Huff, of Macon, Ga. She has frequently visited Atlanta, and has many friends here. A group of her friends have been invited by Mrs. Moore for luncheon today.

MEETINGS.

Members of Woman's Pioneer society are cordially invited to a reception at the residence of Mr. Frank P. Rice, 386 West Peachtree street, Wednesday, 4 to 6 p. m., May 21.

HOWELL FOREMAN GIVEN HIGH HONOR

Atlanta Boy Elected Editor of The Harvard Daily Crimson.

Cambridge, Mass., May 19.—(Special.)—At a meeting of the Harvard Daily Crimson's editorial board, Spencer O. Shotter, of Savannah, Ga., was elected business manager and will assume his duties in September for the next academic year.

Evan Howell Foreman, of Atlanta, Ga., was elected editor for the same period.

The Crimson is the leading student daily, which will take place on Friday, publication of Harvard, and the most important college publication in the country. Work has begun on its own building and plant, which will probably be ready whe nthe college opens in the fall.

Howell Foreman is the son of Robert L. Foreman, of 928 Peachtree street. He won high honors in Atlanta in the Boys' High school.

BRIDGES ARE BLAMED FOR THE OHIO FLOODS

Washington, May 19.—Artificial contraction of waterways by bridges, causeways and other structures so placed as to make it impossible for the channels to carry away the enormous amount of water resulting from an unusually heavy rainfall, was blamed for the devastation wrought by the recent Ohio floods in a preliminary report filed today by the commission of army engineers appointed by Secretary of War Garrison to investigate the floods and recommend preventative measures.

This board has been over the ground in the flooded districts, but will continue its investigations for several months.

Investigations thus far prosecuted, the report said, indicate that the problems in the Ohio river valley will be solved best by clearing the river channels and strengthening levees, rather than by the construction of reservoirs.

It is apparent there will be conflict of opinion if the states seek federal aid in the control of their internal river problems. Officials were pointed out today that the construction of levees improves farm lands and other properties in an amount sometimes exceeding several times the cost of the improvements and suggested that it would be but common justice for those who reap the benefits of the improvements to bear their expense.

SOUTHERN POSTER MEN CONVENE IN MOBILE

Mobile, Ala., May 19.—The fourteenth annual conention of the Southern Poster Adertising association convened in Mobile today, with James D. Burbridge, of Jacksonville, Fla., presiding, and delegates present from Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Tennessee, South Carolina, Mississippi, Louisiana, Cuba and Porto Rico. The delegates were welcomed with addresses by Mayor Lee Schwartz and President W. H. Ambrcht, of the chamber of commerce, and business league. The response to welcome was made by President Burbridge. The first session today was taken up with the hearing of reports of officials, applications and routine business. On Tuesday the convention will be entertained at a shore dinner. The convention will be in session for three days.

On May 27, will occur the graduating exercises of the Talbotton Public school. The musical exercises will be under the direction of Miss Elizabeth England.

WARRANT IS ISSUED FOR ATHENS MAN

Missing Insurance Agent Cashed Many Notes Without Delivering Policies, It Is Charged.

Athens, Ga., May 19.—(Special.)—A warrant was sworn out here today for J. C. Moore, charging him with larceny after a trust delegated. Moore cannot be located, and for a month past he has not been in Athens.

The warrant charges that Moore, who was a representative of the Mutual Life, of New York, took the application of J. B. Weir, of the normal school section of this city, accepted a check for payment of the policy and later Mr. Weir was notified that he had been turned down by the company's physicians. Moore has left Athens.

In another instance a prominent citizen took a policy for $50,000, paying Moore in a note for a few cents less than $10,000, the policy being for three years, it is said.

In another instance, it is alleged, he either failed to deliver the policies after taking the applications with payment in check or notes, or gave a policy for one year's insurance, collecting for three annual premiums.

Many Notes Out.

Two business men who secured insurance from him and gave notes are advertising that the notes were given without valuable consideration, and warn the public against trading for them. Banks here have bought and discounted heavily numbers of notes on good men made to J. C. Moore. It is known that there are scores of these notes. It is conservatively estimated that Moore secured from business men of Athens free $40,000 to $60,000 in notes in this manner.

The officials of the Mutual Life, of New York are here today and have been in conference with the solicitor general, anxious to locate Moore. They state that they will protect all just claims and will not let their policyholders suffer.

Moore came to Athens several months ago; was of pleasing presence and manners, an experienced insurance man and a convincing solicitor. One or two prominent young business men were employed to help him in soliciting business and offered a division of commissions. One of them is suing for his share of the commission on the $50,000 policy, the three years' premiums on which amounted to about $10,000.

Spent Large Sums.

Moore had good offices in the Southern Mutual building and took a cottage on "the Heights," near the Normal school. About a month ago he bought an automobile, paid cash for it and left it with the firm from which he bought it. An attachment is now against taht machine for part of the commissions one of his helpers claims. About the same time he took out fire insurance on a quantity of furniture at his cottage, and paid cash for it.

A few days later he was sought in connection with explanations a bank wanted about certain notes. It was said that he had gone to Louisiana to sell property he held there, and would return in a few days. That was the middle of April. He has not returned.

GIVE THIRD DEGREE AT PALESTINE LODGE

Complying with the request of a number of delegates to the general assemblies of the Presbyterian church now in session in the city, Palestine Lodge, No. 486, F. & A. M. will exemplify the third degree in full dramatic form, Wednesday evening, May 21st, beginning at 7 o'clock.

Palestine lodge, while among the younger of the lodges in the city, is especially noted for the high class work done and the conventional conception its officers have of the ennobling principles of the fraternity.

There is probably no lodge which stands higher in the entire South, and to all who have not seen the work as exemplified by Palestine, a most interesting and pleasant evening is in store.

It is hoped that as many of the visiting delegates as possible will be present. A splendid musical program has been arranged.

OFFICER L. F. CARTER RUN DOWN BY AUTO

Only after exercising the utmost agility and coolness did L. F. Carter, a plain clothes policeman, escape death shortly before 9 o'clock last night, when, while standing at Forsyth street at Marietta, he was run down by the automobile owned and driven by J. A. Brigman, a salesman of Decatur.

When struck Carter sprang up on the hood of the machine, escaping the wheels, which would otherwise have ground him to death.

Brigman was arrested and charged with reckless driving. He was released on his own recognizance. He gave as his explanation of the accident that he was not used to running an automobile, having bought the car only the day before.

SOLVE PHAGAN CASE, URGE ATLANTA WOMEN

Solicitor Dorsey Busy.

Solicitor Dorsey spent most of Monday examing witnesses. The remainder of the time was occupied in summing up and preparing the available evidence for presentation to the grand jury.

A statement that inspires hope in the heart of the countless thousands who anxiously await the fixing of guilt, was that made by the Burns man Monday morning. The Phagan case, to me, he said, is no more baffling than the ordinary murder. My entire life has been devoted to the solving of murders. That this one can be cleared within less than another month is my prediction.

Hunt for Phone Girl.

Hunting as relentlessly as they hunted the mysterious girl who accompanied Mary Phagan to the pencil plant, headquarters detectives are searching for a pretty telephone girl who is reported to have overheard on the night of the murder a secret telephone conversation between two attaches of the factory.

Detective Chief Lanford last night told a Constitution reporter that he had heard from a responsible source of a switchboard operator who is reported to have overheard the message. A squad of sleuths were detailed for the search, which will reach practically every public and private phone exchange in the city.

The chief would neither deny or admit the rumor that he has learned the identity of the girl. It is said, however, that other than a good description of her, the searchers are otherwise unequipped for their hunt. She is reported to be a young girl, under 20, pretty and an operator of a number of years' experience.

The conversation she is rumored to have overheard had reference to the murder, and came over the wire during the night of the day on which Mary Phagan disappeared. Solicitor Hugh M. Dorsey told the reporter that until he had been informed last night by the newspaper man that he had heard nothing of the telephone operator rumor.

Heard Nothing of Report.

Colonel Felder, in behalf of Chief Lanford, of the Burns detective agency, denied that that branch of the Phagan investigation had heard nothing of the report. The Pinkertons scout this rumor. Harry Scott said last night that he could find at a moment's notice the girl said to have heard the conversation. A new figure has entered the Pinkerton operations on the mystery, Superintendent H. B. Pierce, who came to police headquarters Sunday and Monday in interest of the case.

C. W. Tobie, the Burns agent, has more the appearance of a polished business man than that of a detective. No one would suspect that his entire life had been devoted to work in criminal circles.

His record has won him the position of director of the Burns criminal department, the most important branch of that agency's operations. His headquarters is located in Chicago. Tobie was intimately connected with Burns in the famous solving of the McNamara dynamiting cases. He is known as the noted sleuth's right-hand man. He has worked in connection with the world's greatest detective departments, including Scotland Yard, in England.

Last night a number of police detectives and Pinkerton operatives, headed by John Black, of headquarters, and Harry Scott, of the Pinkertons, visited the pencil factory building. The premises were scoured hours in search for clues relating to the arrest of the negro sweeper, Connolly, it is said. The result of the search was not made known.

Colonel Felder said Monday that the subscriptions to the Burns fund had slacked considerably that day, and urged everyone interested in the Phagan case to hurry contributions. The amount has passed the $2,000 mark, but additional sums are needed. Money already is at hand to retain the agent now on the ground, but $5,000, it is said, will be needed to obtain Burns.

The chief would neither deny or admit the rumor that he has learned the identity of the girl. It is said, however, that other than a good description of her, the searchers are otherwise unequipped for their hunt. She is reported to be a young girl, under 20, pretty and an operator of a number of years' experience.

The conversation she is rumored to have overheard had reference to the murder, and came over the wire during the night of the day on which Mary Phagan disappeared. Solicitor Hugh M. Dorsey told the reporter that until he had been informed last night by the newspaper man that he had heard nothing of the telephone operator rumor.

Heard Nothing of Report.

Colonel Felder, in behalf of Chief Lanford, of the Burns detective agency, denied that that branch of the Phagan investigation had heard nothing of the report. The Pinkertons scout this rumor. Harry Scott said last night that he could find at a moment's notice the girl said to have heard the conversation. A new figure has entered the Pinkerton operations on the mystery, Superintendent H. B. Pierce, who came to police headquarters Sunday and Monday in interest of the case.

C. W. Tobie, the Burns agent, has more the appearance of a polished business man than that of a detective. No one would suspect that his entire life had been devoted to work in criminal circles.

His record has won him the position of director of the Burns criminal department, the most important branch of that agency's operations. His headquarters is located in Chicago. Tobie was intimately connected with Burns in the famous solving of the McNamara dynamiting cases. He is known as the noted sleuth's right-hand man. He has worked in connection with the world's greatest detective departments, including Scotland Yard, in England.

Last night a number of police detectives and Pinkerton operatives, headed by John Black, of headquarters, and Harry Scott, of the Pinkertons, visited the pencil factory building. The premises were scoured hours in search for clues relating to the arrest of the negro sweeper, Connolly, it is said. The result of the search was not made known.

Colonel Felder said Monday that the subscriptions to the Burns fund had slacked considerably that day, and urged everyone interested in the Phagan case to hurry contributions. The amount has passed the $2,000 mark, but additional sums are needed. Money already is at hand to retain the agent now on the ground, but $5,000, it is said, will be needed to obtain Burns.

Tobie Gives Interview.

Tobie, the Burns agent, gave an interview to reporters Monday morning in the office of Colonel Felder. He predicts a complete and early clearing up of the mystery. Already, he says, he has unearthed new and valuable evidence.

His reports are being submitted daily to Colonel Felder and Solicitor General Dorsey. Both are highly pleased and evince optimism over his work. Tobie comes direct from Chicago, where he is in charge of the entire criminal department of the Burns agency. His orders, cabled from his chief in Europe, are to drop everything else and work exclusively on the Atlanta mystery.

Basing his investigation on the theory that the murderer was a sexual pervert, he has formed a definite theory of the crime. Excluding the idea that the girl left the pencil plant after entering at noon, he believes she was murdered inside the building.

Theory of Tobie.

Also, he believes that, although the primary intention of the murderer was not to slay his victim, such was a deliberate one. His idea of the crime is as follows:

"The girl was lured into the rear of the second floor, on which were found the blood spots and hair strands. Advances were made. She resented, attempted to flee. The murderer, raging, strove to check her. A scuffle ensued. Blind with madness, she was struck. She fell backward. Her head struck the lathing machine. The skull was fractured. Unconscious, her body was dragged to the closet in which blood stains were discovered.

"The murderer, thinking she soon would regain consciousness, waited and meditated. He was an attempted rapist. She had threatened to tell her parents. He would be sent to prison, possibly mobbed or lynched. Dead folks tell no tales.

"While still unconscious, the garrote was formed in the strips cords. It was loped around her throat as she lay, insensible, in the closet. She never regained consciousness. The body was lowered to the basement to be burned in the furnace. A fire on holiday would attract attention. It was too risky. The lifeless form was dragged to the desolate recess. In the cellar darkness, the murderer gave way to fright.

"Hoping to direct suspicion to another source, the slayer penned the mysterious notes, and then fled."

Women Are Interested.

Mrs. Carr's letter follows:

"To the Women of Atlanta: The Mary Phagan case is our case, and it behooves every woman to set the seal of condemnation upon lawlessness and demand that no means shall be unused, no expense spared in bringing to justice the foul villain who perpetrated this unparalleled crime. His freedom is a menace to the honor and life of every woman in our community.

"But no mistake must be made. Some of our most prominent men, and a few big-hearted women, have taken the initiative in contributing to the fund which obtains the best detective talent in America, and it the increasing of that fund we women have our opportunity.

"Let every woman give something, however small the amount, and in the aggregation of these such a sum will be acquired as shall employ and reward all the legal and detective talent that has been so continuously and generously given, and will be given in the search for the criminal.

"To systematize this wholesale giving, let the women in all departments of endeavor—in offices, in plants, in stores or wherever women congregate, select one of their number to receive the individual contributions and send, as a whole, the amount they realize to The Constitution with these instructions: 'For the Mary Phagan Investigation Fund.' Let the same plan be pursued n neighborhoods.

"Let us be up and doing!

"What if Mary Phagan were your child?

"MRS. JAMES F. CARR.

Wilson's Aunt Dead.

Denver, Col., May 19.—Mrs John Woodrow, aunt by marriage of President Wilson, died at her home here last night. An acute attack of bronchitas caused death, after an illness of only a few days. Mrs. Woodrow was 81 years of age. Her husband was a brother of the president's mother.

SOCIAL SERVICE WORK BY SOUTHERN BAPTISTS

St. Louis Convention Names Committee to Co-Operate With Northern Baptists.

St. Louis, May 19.—The Southern Baptist co... ention decided before final adjournment this afternoon to enter social service work and appointed a committee for that purpose, which will cooperate with the committee from the Northern Baptist convention.

The southern committee includes W. L. Poteat, of Greenville, S. C.; T. B. Ray, Richmond, Va.; J. T. Henderson, Bristol, Va.; A. C. Crea, Atlanta, Ga., and Boyce Watkins, and J. N. Prestridge, Louisville.

A. J. Dickinson, of Birmingham, said the Baptists could not afford longer to keep out of social service work.

Since the enactment of the Mann law he said the social evil has become a local question. He said the segregated district of Birmingham contaminated the entire state of Alabama because all women there were recruited from Alabama. Similar conditions, he said, prevailed in other southern states where the inmates were natives.

Rev. A. J. Barton, of Dallas, Tex., reported for the temperance committee that the passage of the Webb bill by the national congress was the greatest victory for temperance in a half century.

The convention favored endowment of a seminary in Louisville to train negro preachers and appropriated a committee to work out details.

At the closing session William D. Upshaw, the Georgia editor and prohibition leader, introduced a resolution requesting the president of the convention to send a telegram of Christian greeting to the Presbyterian assemblies in Atlanta. The resolution was passed with enthusiasm.

EXEMPTION CLAUSE NOT LIKED BY WILSON

Washington, May 19.—President Wilson, at a conference today with Chairmen Fitzgerald and Martin, of the house and senate appropriations committees, respectively, is said to have indicated that he might prefer to have eliminated from the sundry civil appropriation bill, the much discussed section which forbids that a certain item be used in prosecuting farmers and workingmen's organizations for violators of the Sherman law. President Taft vetoed the bill because of it, and President Wilson at first indicated that inasmuch as he thought it did not establish a general principle he would not object to it.

Chairman Martin and Fitzgerald are said to have outlined to the president difficulties of eliminating the provision now that both houses have repassed the bill, and that, in fact, it might be passed over his veto. They left the white house with the impression that Mr. Wilson probably would decide to sign it with a memorandum regarding the disputed provision.

The president talked over a budget plan with the chairmen and told them he intended to take up the subject in a message later.

WILSON GIVES MEDAL TO CAPT. VAN SCHAICK

Washington, May 19.—In the presences of Major General Wood, chief of staff, and several other high army officers, President Wilson today presented to Captain Louis J. Van Schaick, sixth infantry, the congressional medal of honor for distinguished gallantry in the Philippines.

While in pursuit of a band of insurgents, Van Schaick was the first of his detachment to emerge from a canyon, and he engaged the enemy singlehanded until reinforcements could arrive.

"It is a great pleasure," said the president, "to be the person to present this medal. The particular kind of gallantry which you showed appeals to me in an unusual degree, because the officer who knows how to protect as well as lead his men is of the right sort, particularly in a country like ours where thought is for the rank and file as well as for ourselves. I esteem it an honor to represent a nation which has officers who have this particular impulse and capacity."

HE'D BAR CONGRESSMEN FROM POLITICAL WORK

Washington, May 19.—Senator Clapp introduced a bill today to make it unlawful for a senator or representative to serve on any political committee, club or organization and to prohibit congressmen under penalty of fine or imprisonment from soliciting campaign funds.

For years both the republican and democratic congressional committees have been headed by members of congress. Within the last few days political advisors of President Wilson, at his request, urged the naming of more senators upon the democratic congressional committee. Senator Clapp is a member of the house senate elections committee, and was chairman of the committee which conducted an exhaustive investigation last year into political campaign affairs.

CUMBERLANDS STICK BY A MAJORITY OF ONE

Bowling Green, Ky., May 19.—By a majority of only one, the general assembly of the Cumberland Presbyterian church, voted here today to maintain its connection with the Pan-Presbyterian alliance. The debate on the question was spirited and it seemed for a time that the assembly would decide against continuation of the relationship. The vote was 87 to 86. The assembly will adjourn tomorrow.

BABY CRIED ALL THE TIME WITH ECZEMA

Would Nearly Tear Himself to Pieces. Dark Hard Crust. Water Oozed From It. Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment Cured.

Copper Hill, Va.—"My child was two years and six months old when his trouble, eczema, first became noticeable. The eruption looked something like poison oak when it first broke out and would itch and burn so badly that he would nearly tear himself to pieces. It would break out in red blisters on some parts of his body. Where his clothing came in contact with it, it would form a dark hard crust and water would come from it nearly all the time. It was called the worst form of eczema. After about four months it spread over the entire body. To say he suffered most terribly would only be putting it mildly. His was simply unbearable suffering. He would cry all the time and I did not see hardly a minute's rest with him for six months.

"His ankles and back just over the kidneys were the worst of all, also his hands and feet were very bad. His ankles were a perfect raw sore just terrible to look at. Then I read of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a sample. They seemed to ease more than anything I had used, so I bought some more and used them. Cuticura Soap and Ointment cured him completely." (Signed) Mrs. G. K. Hale, Apr. 17, 1912.

Cuticura Soap 25c. and Cuticura Ointment 50c. are sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Tender-faced men should use Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick, 25c. Sample free.

Advertising drives the wheels of trade

How many people that pass your store really see the goods on display in your window?

How many of them fail to read carefully the ads in their morning paper?

These are interesting questions answerable by a test. You have been dressing your windows ever since you've been in business. With the exception of an ad now and then, you have not used the greatest business-getting power—advertising.

To prove to your satisfaction that advertising in The Constitution pays the merchant, phone Main 5000 now. A representative will call and collect facts about the goods you wish to sell. Tomorrow he will return with a series of attractive ads for your consideration.

If you will cause these ads to be published in The Constitution continuously, you should soon note an increase in your business. This may surprise you who have never given advertising a fair trial—but it is a daily occurrence to those who advertise consistently and persistently in The Constitution, the standard southern newspaper that enters the home in the morning and is read there.

WHIFFS

In Satisfied.

BILL SMITH is more than satisfied with his ball club. In fact he is jubilant. "Its the best ball club I ever saw in this league," is William's large compliment. "And it does not know when it is licked," he adds. And Bill is more than right. When a team can give a pitcher a five, a four and a seven run lead three days in succession, then come back and hammer out six runs the fourth day, it has the nerve and such a club will not be downed.

Should Help.

DENT'S acquisition to the pitching staff should run out the one bone of contention. It's strictly up to the local twirlers to hold the opposition in check. If they can do so, the present home stay should be a huge success, as the batters can be counted on to drive in a sufficient number of runs.

Looks Great.

"BISLAND looks like a million dollars around that shortfield," was Bill Smith's comment Monday afternoon on the new shortstop. "He is fast, throws splendidly, covers a lot of ground and he can hit that old pill. He stops up the big hole there was at short. In brief, he'll do."

Hard Luck Jim.

OLD RELIABLE Jim Brady will soon be known as "Hard Luck Jim" if things continue to break as badly for him as they have on the road trip. Jim did not have an easy game on the entire trip. The Crackers seem to for get how to score runs with Brady on the hill and the big right hand-er had to hurl his arm off. But he is sticking by the ship and such honest endeavor merits success. They'll break the other way for him before long, see if they dont.

Joke on Navin.

THE DETROIT club owner thought he was pulling a good one when he announced the other day that Ty Cobb and the other stars would come under the workingman's compensation law if they were laid up for any period. This would give the great Georgian a weekly salary of but $10 weekly if he had been injured. But it now develops that Navin misconstrued the law and it applies only to the workingmen around the plant and does not affect the ball players.

Three Good Bouts.

THREE TEN ROUND bouts are scheduled for the Auditorium armory show June 9. Feathers in the preliminary, lightweights in the semi-windup and heavyweights in the wind up, give the fans a diversity of bouts that should please the most exacting.

After Umpires.

THE ITEM, of New Orleans, is hot after Umpires Wright and Rudderham, whom they claim are too incompetent to fill umpire roles in the Southern league. After about a column of roasting the two officials, the story is brought to a close this way. "If President Kavanaugh continued to send these two men here, The Item is going to tell the public that Rudderham and Wright are doing to umpire and is going to advise the public not to go, because it can not witness a real game with two such officials." We should worry.

Big Bout Tonight.

SOUTHERN boxing fans will await with interest the outcome of tonight's battle in Los Angeles between Bud Anderson, the Pacific coast marvel, and Joe Mandot, the pride of New Orleans. This will be the real test of Anderson as a top notcher and the real test of whether or not Mandot has recovered his form after being drubbed by Leach Cross.

Brilliant Work of Both Teams Marks Crackers' Victory Over Turtles in First Home Game

TODAY'S BATTERIES.

Chappelle or Dent and Dunn for Atlanta, and Kroh or Harrell and Seabough for Memphis, are the probable batteries for today's game at Poncey.

By Dick Jemison.

Atlanta fans were treated to the greatest game of baseball that they have had the pleasure of witnessing this season, when the Crackers defeated the Turtles at Ponce de Leon on their return home Monday afternoon by the score of 3 to 2.

Morc excitement was crowded into the nine innings Monday than have been crowded into all the innings combined of all the previous contests this season.

There was never a dull moment throughout the entire battle, some plaser pulling a sensational stab of a hard hit grounder or pulling down a liner with one hand.

Musser Is "Right."

Paul Musser proved Monday afternoon that all he has been needing was a little confidence. The Susquehanna marvel pitched one of the greatest games that he has ever twirled, having great speed, nice change of pace and a sweeping curve with a nice jump, and control.

Paul seems to be back to stay, and his rounding into form clarifies the pitching problem considerably. The big fellow had the Turtles on his hip just when he needed to have them there.

Rube Kissinger, who has the distinction of being the "handsomest" man in baseball, twirled a very useful sort of a game himself, one that would win nine cases in ten, but Monday was the tenth and Musser was the answer.

Musser allowed five bingles and fanned seven. Kissinger allowed six hits and fanned five. Musser walked three, Kissinger one and made one wild pitch.

Sensational Fielding.

fourth, getting Baerwald in a chase ever been witnessed on the local lot. To do justice to the players, take the features play by play.

Tommy Long contributed a fine running catch of a line drive from Ward's bat in the second.

Agler snapped one with one hand with a runner coming into the bag that was Hal Chase all over again.

Pat Graham caught a great game, but his catch of a foul up against the grandstand, when in grabbing the pellet he sprawled over the board wall that runs into the grounds was not only a brilliant, but a nerry piece of work.

Wallie Smith made a great stop of Shanley's fierce wallop in the third, then duplicated it on Ward's in the fourth, getting Barewald in a chase and retiring him at the plate, on the latter.

Cap Whitey robbed Ward of a clean hit in the eighth by spearing one with one hand high over his head after a mighty jump. He tagged runners going down with great eclat and featuring further with two wonderful one-handed pickups and throws.

Baerwald grabbed a couple off of his shoe tops in right that robbed Crackers of near hits.

Joe Ward's third basing, however, was the feature of the Memphis team's defense, the veteran making four beautiful pick ups, two of them off Elston, and three with minute accuracy to make and follow it with a lightning accurate throw.

All of the above plays prevented what looked like sure hits and but for this wonderful fielding, there is no telling just what the score would have been.

The hitting honors went to Willis Butler, the Turtles shortstop, who connected for a double and a circuit smash out of four times up and tallied both of the Turtles' runs.

How They Scored.

The Crackers were the first to count. With one gone, in the third Pat Graham smashed a high bounder just out of Kissinger's reach which he best out for a hit. After swinging wildly at several, Paul Musser caught every Turtle flat footed by dropping a beautiful bunt which he beat to first.

Kissinger uncorked a wild heave here and both runners advanced a peg. Rube lieklnger was up and fanned like but Shanley Bill pickled one to the middle meadow for a cushion, Graham and Musser scampering across the platter. Love trapped the ball prettily and some thought he had caught it, but when he heaved to the platter he tipped off his hand.

The third and final run and the one that proved to be the winner counter was shot over in the fourth session, when with two packed away, Bisland grabbed one on the nose and sailed it over Schweitzer's head, beating three relays to the plate

Butler Hits Homer.

The first Turtle run came in the fifth, when Butler slammed one to left that took a wicked bound and got by Tommy Long, baling behind the left field bleachers. He made the circuit before the pellet reached the diamond again.

With one gone, Butler poked a bingle to center and by nifty generalship and the relay to second by a fraction of a second. He purloined third and Shanley walked. As the latter started to steal, Seabough dropped one just over second base scoring Butler and things looked dark, but Musser tightened up tanning Kissinger and making Love roll to Whitney.

Both sides went out in one two three order the rest of the game, Graham pegging out the last man attempting to steal Alperman making a beautiful stop and nailing the runner by a hair.

Birmingham, Ala., May 19.—Mobile won from Birmingham this afternoon 3 to 1. Thompson was as good as Robertson, and both teams played errorless ball. In the first, with men on bases, Jacobson tripled to center, sending two runs over. This, to all practical purposes, won the game. A large Monday afternoon crowd witnessed the sport.

Chattanooga, Tenn., May 19.—A triple by Bagby and Case and Wares' scratch single untied and won a free-hitting game today for Montgomery by 8 to 6. The visitors fielded erratically behind Bagby, but Case, who succeeded him, drew brilliant support, a catch by Walker in center ended the three-base hit, and Wares' nipping a local rally in the ninth by starting a fast double play.

GEORGIA TACKLE DIES SUDDENLY

Athens, Ga., May 19.—(Special.)—William Luther Arnett, of Odessa, a member of the junior law class of the University of Georgia, died after an illness of four days here this morning from typhoid fever. His body was carried to his home this afternoon, the law class following the casket in a body. He was 23 years old, and in the final games of football last fall he was a star tackle. He was one of the best men physically, mentally and morally in the university.

FIFTEEN STRAIGHT FOR YALE BULLDOGS

Boston, May 19.—The work of the Yale baseball team with its fifteen straight victories continues the feature of the season among eastern colleges.

The team has set a record for consecutive victories in intercollegiate competition, and has an unquestioned lead for the unofficial championship.

Brown, regarded as Yale's most serious contender for championship honors, will meet the Blue again this week. A close contest is expected, with Brown trying to retrieve a previous defeat.

Aside from the Yale-Brown game probably the most important game of the week is that at Philadelphia today, where Harvard and Pennsylvania will play their contest postponed from Saturday.

Still on Ineligible List

BUCK WEAVER.

Manager Smith announced last night that the Crackers' big right hander, whose term of suspension expired Monday, has been placed on the ineligible list for ten days longer, pending his getting into good form. Weaver has been working out daily at Ponce de Leon and is beginning to show all his old-time cunning, but Manager Smith wants to be certain that he is right again before asking for reinstatement. The second suspension of Weaver was made possible by an appeal to President Kavanaugh, of the Southern league, the local club showing that it would be a loss to the club if Weaver was turned adrift at the present writing and a loss to the big pitcher as well. If he shows good form within the next ten days, the local manager stated he may sign him up again.

Charleston, S. C., May 19.—Charleston outplayed Jacksonville in the first of the series today, and won 2 to 1. Foster was in superb form and yielded but one hit. Only thirty visitors faced him, he fanned seven and also got two hits himself.

The feature of the game was the stealing of home by Kipp, the local shortstop, in the sixth inning, which scored Charleston's first run. The game was won in the ninth, when Hoey singled, was sacrificed to second and went to third on Winston's scratch hit. From where he scored on a similar hit by Menefee. Jacksonville's lone run was made in the fifth. Grover was safe on Needham's error, advanced to third on Maurer's out, and scored on a single by Smith. Scout Conroy, of the St. Louis Nationals, sat in the grandstand. Box scores:

Ad Men Control Ball Game At Ponce de Leon Wednesday

The game Wednesday between the Turtles and the Crackers will be for the benefit of the Atlanta Ad Men, that crowd of boosters that is always engaged in lauding Atlanta both at home and abroad.

This game is being played for their benefit to assist in raising funds to carry them to the national convention, which will be held in Baltimore next month

The local club agreed to co-operate with the Ad Men in this movement as an appreciation of their efforts in aiding the team to land the opening day attendance trophy.

Mayor Woodward has agreed to close the city hall at 2 o'clock Wednesday, and the Ad Men are endeavoring to get a half holiday throughout the city.

The Ad Men deserve the thanks of every loyal fan of the city for their active interest in everything pertaining to the good of the city, and especially in boosting the baseball club. They ask their support for this game to help them make a good show at Baltimore, where Atlanta will be boosted to the skies.

The Ad Men are all going to the game in a body in the big automobile trucks that they rode in in the opening game of the season, and purpose to go for the home boys in the same.

DENT IS SIGNED; FURCHNER GOES

New Twirler Makes Debut Today or Wednesday—He Should Strengthen Staff. Has Good Record.

Pitcher Elliott Dent, late of the Washington Americans, affixed his signature to an Atlanta contract Monday morning and was at the park in uniform during the afternoon.

Hewill make his debut as aCracker either today or Wednesday against the Turtles.

To make room for Dent, Al Furchner, taken on by Bill Smith when the Crackers were in Mobile, has been turned back to Manager Flynn, of the Gulls, being released Monday morning.

Dent was with the Newark team, of the International league, last season, and with a team that won only .527 per cent of its games, he won 13 and lost 13, a percentage of .520, a most excellent showing.

Dent's strong point seems to be control. In forty-two games, in which he took part, he allowed but 28 bases on balls, and in these contests he made but one error in fielding. He allowed only one hit an inning in 198 innings, and a run every third.

If Dent hurls this kind of ball for the Crackers, he will wn a good per centage of his games.

SPEEDWAY SURPRISE TO FRENCH DRIVER

Indianapolis, Ind., May 19.—(Special.)—Jules Goux, the man who has beaten the world's speed records, is now at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway tuning up his Peugeot car in preparation for the third annual 500-mile race, wwhich will be held May 30. He is accompanied by Paul Zuccarelli, his teammate; Emil Begin and Earnest Flanelli, ther relief drvers. Charles Faroux, editor of La Vie Automobile, of Paris, arrived with John the party soon, and will be an interested spectator at the 500-mile race.

The big blue Peugeot cars arrived in Indianapolis several days before Goux and Zuccarelli. The drivers immediately unpacked their cars and are now getting down to practice and learning the turns of the track. They express themselves as being highly pleased with the big brick oval, saying it is hard to doubt the greatest race course in the wor' '

'I had no idea that this track could compare with that of Brooklands," said Jules Goux through S. M. Pimlents, official interpreter of the Speedway. I am most pleasantly surprised, for here I find the most nettle in every way. After watching the American cars which are already here, I know that the race on May 30 will be the most hotly contested event in which I have ever taken part."

Goux is an engineer of the Peugeot factory in Paris, a concern of which his father was the superintendent for thirty y.ars. He was born within a stone's throw of the factory, and was educated expressly for the position he holds today.

GEORGIA-ALABAMA.

Gadsden 10, LaGrange 4.

LaGrange, Ga., May 19.—(Special.)—Gadsden pounded Robinson for eleven safties, three of which were circuit smashes; Werner, the second gentleman to use the use of the park, was called out for failure to touch first. The locals gave Robinson rather leaky support in the pinches, and with men on the Gadsden bunch delivering the required bingles.

BARROW AFTER ROWDIES IN THE INTERNATIONAL

New York, May 19.—President Edward Barrow intends to stamp out rowdy tactics on the ball fields of the International league. Today he indefinitely suspended First Baseman Swacina, of the Newark club, for his argument with Umpire Hayes in Newark yesterday. Mr. Barrow says that Swacina may also be fined if an investigation of the trouble should warrant it.

Manager Smith and Zimmerman, third baseman of Newark, were fined $50 each for trouble in a game at Rochester on Saturday.

Americus 4, Thomasville 0.

Americus, Ga., May 18.—(Special.)—Americus, with team strengthened and rejuvenated, defeated Thomasville's aggregation here this afternoon, score 4 to 2. Wolfe in the box for Americus was too strong for the team that twice defeated Americus last week, giving up only four hits to the visitors. The features of the game were Wolfe's excellent pitching, Moran's one-hand lone stab, which saved a home run, and Chancey's bat work in knocking a home run for deep center. The success of Americus this afternoon created considerable enthusiasm among local fans, and revived otherwise droopy spirits.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Under this head the sporting editor will endeavor to answer all questions pertaining to all branches of sports.

Dick Jemison, Sporting Editor The Constitution: Two men are out, a runner on third and a runner on first base. The batsman on first starts to second and is caught in the chase, the runner on third goes home, and crosses the plate during the play. Later the man being chased back and forth between first and second is put out. Does the run made by man that was on third score? A FAN.

Yes, the run counts.

Dick Jemison, Sporting Editor The Constitution: 1. Is the Miller that is catching for Brooklyn the Miller that once caught for Atlanta? 2. Is the Bayless that played on the Buffs some last season, Dick Bayless? 3. Where are he following ex-Atlanta players: Ben Kohler, Rube Zellars, Whitey Moore and George Stinson? A. R. B.

1. No. 2. Yes. 3. Kohler is with South Bend in the Central League. Rube Zellars is dead. Whitey Morse is with Valdosta, in the Empire State league, and George Stinson is in the Texas League.

COLE MOTOR CAR IN "MOVIE" DRAMA

The film "Bedford's Hope," which will be shown at the Superba theater today, will be very interesting to more than a few of Atlanta's citizens who are owners of a Cole motor car. The story as told by the film is a thrilling tale and a particular thrilling feature of it is that way in which the designs of the villain is thwarted by an excited race between a railway train and a motor car. The car used in the film is a Cole "Six." This being an actual movie photograph, of course the Cole wins the race. The Cole Motor Co., of Georgia is very anxious to have all owners of the Cole to attend the Superba today, tickets will be furnished by the Cole management free to those owners who desire to attend, and see this exciting little drama in which the Cole car plays such an important role.

Eight Cub Scouts.

Chicago, May 19.—Eight scouts today began a systematic search for minor leagues for pitchers for the Chicago Nationals. Practically the entire country will be scoured under President Murphy's orders to strengthen the staff, to whose weakness the poor showing of the team on its eastern trip is partly attributed.

Robinson Visits Birmingham.

Robinson, well known Atlanta wholesale and retail furniture dealer who has been seriously ill for several months past has so far recovered as to be able to leave Atlanta for a few weeks rest and recreation. Mr. Robinson is now visiting relatives in Birmingham where he will remain some time.

SLEEP WALLOP GIVEN THOMAS

New Orleans, May 19.—Charlie White, of Chicago, knocked out Joe Thomas, of this city, in the second round of a scheduled 10-round bout here tonight. This is the second technical knockout of Thomas by White.

Thomas was knocked down for the count of nine in the first round, after going down two other times, the bell saving him the last time.

At the opening of the second, Thomas appeared to have regained his strength, but a few well directed rights and lefts put him groggy again, and after about one minute of the second round the referee, Dick Burke, raised White's hand and motioned Thomas to his corner.

FLEW FROM KEY WEST AND LANDED IN CUBA

Key West, Fla., May 19.—Augustine Parla, the Cuban aviator, who left here on an attempted flight to Havana, Cuba, at 2 o'clock this afternoon, landed at Bay Mariel, forty miles west of Havana.

Parla had been notified by the Cuban government that it would be impossible to have a ship patrol the course today, and it was announced that he would make a short flight to Sand Key and return. Meantime, however, Parla had received a message from Dominco Rosillo, the Cuban who made the flight successfully Saturday, saying that he would leave Havana and pilot Parla in.

Acting apparently upon this message, Parla failed to turn back at Sand Key, and was soon lost to sight, nothing being heard from him until news of his arrival in Cuba was received. He was competing for the prize of $5,000 offered by the city of Havana for the second successful flight from here to that city.

PIEDMONT PARK LAKE OPENS NEXT SUNDAY

Piedmont Park will be open next Sunday, bigger and better than ever before. Thousands will be in attendance, and the throwing open of the swimming pool will officially mark the presence of summer.

The park will be one of Atlanta's most attractive show places this season. All winter, the park commission has been adding improvements and rebuilding the resort, until it now resembles a vest-pocket Coney Island.

Cement bottom has been constructed in the lake, and two 20-foot diving stands have been erected in the center. Additions have been made to the bath houses, and when swimming is permitted next Sunday, the lockers will accommodate exactly 480 persons.

Another feature this season will be the arrangements whereby rowing will be prohibited only in the eastern section of the lake, that portion near the public rest house which is divided by the division bridge. Ample provisions will be made for rowing parties, and a larger supply of boats will be installed.

Nutting with trying to inject politics into the police board tangle. He flayed the proposed ordinance as a piece of needless business and outlined council not to meddle in police board's affairs.

Board Should Be a Check.

"I have always favored the head of the departments naming their men without interference," he declared, "but there are times when the head makes mistakes, and when that times comes I believe in having a board ready to correct them or to prevent them. The ordinance is offered for political effect. It is not fair to the police board; nor to the six men who voted against Chief Beavers."

Alderman Warren said that if he was a member of the police board he would want the chief to have a say so. He declared that under the provisions of the Nutting ordinance the board could not get a man whom they might want without getting the chief to nominate him. If the chief declined it would be necessary for the board to reject every nomination he made until he nominated the man the board wanted.

"I think the board should have a final voice," Alderman Warren declared as a last retort.

Nutting Criticizes Warren.

Alderman Nutting criticised Alderman Warren's discussion as a remarkable speech." He denied that the ordinance contemplates politics. Quite to the contrary, he said, it eliminates politics, in that it makes the heads of the various city departments not only the nominal but the executive head of their respective offices.

Alderman Nutting wanted his ordinance advanced to the second reading and then adopted, but after Alderman Arthur Van Dyke asked for an explanation of its purpose and thereby brought on the discussion, enough opposition was mustered to have it referred to the ordinance committee where it will be fought out.

The ordinance provides that hereafter when assistants or men in the several city departments are to be added, either as officers or workmen, the head of such department shall recommend those suitable therefor to the board.

Has Right to Nominate.

The board or commission or committee is empowered with authority to reject nominations and their decision shall be final. If the nominations of the head of the department first presented are rejected, it shall be the duty and privilege of the head of the department to make such nominations until such names are submitted as said board, or commission may accept.

The police board deadlocked over the appointment of a sergeant whose name was placed in nomination by Chief Beavers. Six members voted to sustain the chief and six voted with Mayor G. Woodward, whose initiative has started the row.

Mayor Woodward stands in the position of opposing the system of giving the heads of departments absolute power in making nominations for appointments and promotions, because he says it is contrary to the ar-sions for approving the act and probably would not do so.

JOHNSON SIGNS BILL, BUT IT'S STILL FOUGHT

Sacramento, Cal., May 19.—California's alien land bill became the law of the state today. Against protests of Japan and representations of President Wilson and his personal envoy, Secretary of State Bryan, Governor Johnson signed the bill and ninety days after the adjournment of the legislature, or on August 10, the act will become operative.

While the governor was signing the bill, the steamship Korea, was passing in through the Golden gate, bearing two distinguished Japanese, one a former pupil of President Wilson, on a mission of investigation.

Meanwhile, complications, national and sectional, beset the bill. Overshadowing all is the outcome of the negotiations now in progress between this country and Japan, which has interpreted the act as discriminatory and offensive.

Triple Hostility.

Within California itself the act has encountered triple hostility, which may delay its operation until November 1, 1914. Democrats opposed state legislation at this time, as a matter of party regularity. Nevertheless, so plain to them seems to be the demand for the bill that, after exhausting all parliamentary tactics, the senate gave only one adverse democratic vote and the assembly only two.

As an expression of this opposition, Theodore Bell, late democratic candidate for governor and former chairman of the democratic state central committee, has issued an invitation to his party to submit the issue to the people by invoking the referendum against the bill. He grounds his opposition on two contentions—one that the bill is insufficiently drastic, because it permits leases running three years; and second, because it embarrasses the national administration.

The Asiatic Exclusion league, an organization of which the president is Olaf A. Tveitmou, recently convicted of complicity in the "dynamite conspiracy," announced last night that it would envoke the referendum purely because it opposes the bill as faint hearted.

Thirdly, the powerful Panama-Pacific International Exposition company, backed by many chambers of commerce, has placed itself on record in opposition to the bill, on the ground that it is a violation of faith.

Statement By Johnson.

In reply to this threatened hostility Governor Johnson said today, in signing the bill:

"I repeat what I have before said: "That California, for the first time in its history, has an anti-alien law. Any man who wishes another kind of law may consistently invoke the initiative. No man who really wishes an alien law will sign a referendum as to this law.

"If another law is sought it may be presented by means of the initiative, and in the meantime the present law will be in operation. To tie up the present law means no law until November, 1914."

The two visiting Japanese are Soroka Ebaru, of the constitutional party, and Ayao Hattori, of the nationalist party, a member of the lower house. They made it plain they came merely as representatives of their parties, with a view to learning to actual conditions and prevailing sentiment in California. Mr. Hattori said:

"Our plans are somewhat indefinite. We may see Governor Johnson and I expect to visit President Wilson at his summer home before I return. I was taking special work at Princeton when the president was lecturing there, and his course was one of those I attended."

GOV. JOHNSON ATTACKED BY JAPANESE EDITORS

Tokio, May 19.—The group of business men from various cities of Japan who visited the United States in 1909 and made many friends there, are seeking the co-operation of the most influential of these towards a continuance of the friendly relations between the two countries. They held a reunion at Kyoto today and decided to communicate with their American friends in an effort to aid in the settlement of the controversy over the alien land ownership legislation. The discussion was of the most friendly character, but the granting of naturalization and the conclusion of a new treaty were considered most desirable.

A section of the press bitterly denounces Governor Johnson's reply to President Wilson as illiberal and unjust, declaring that it is strongly anti-Japanese, and that Governor Johnson is seeking to evade his own responsibility under cover of the national law.

It is pointed out that the Japanese have not acquired land by violence, and it is urged that they are no more objectionable than Europeans who acquire citizenship, amass wealth and return to their fatherlands. Instead of endangering peace and order they have opened up the resources of California and advanced the prosperity of the state.

Inhabitants of the eastern states, some of the papers contend, should be alive to the injustice of California. The Yorozzu considers Governor Johnson's attiture as an intolerable insult to Japan, which, it says, always has manifested good will and has voluntarily restricted emigration. The paper expresses the hope that a protest will be lodged against the alien land ownership bill, recently signed by the governor of Arizona.

LOST AND FOUND THAT LOST ARTICLE

MAY NOT BE FOUND TODAY

Or tomorrow or next week. In fact, a month or more may elapse before it turns up. A full description then may be necessary. Often the article remains unfound; often fear of prosecution or hope of a more satisfactory reward may delay the restoration. Then, afterward, the awakening of the finder's conscience explains many delays. But persistency and Constitution wants will usually recover a lost article if an honest person finds it. The service of The Constitution Lost and Found Bureau is also enlisted in behalf of advertisers.

of $9,000 for the work of regrading West Peachtree street is creating much interest among real estate men.

Not only will the establishment of a uniform grade on West Peachtree street do much for the enhancement of realty values along this direct thoroughfare between the city and the north side, but there is considerable speculation as to whether or not it will change the character of the street. There are predictions that with the establishment of the new grade there will be an invasion of business interest such as is now taking place on the former residence sections of Peachtree street.

Message of Unknown Nurse May Save Life of Walker

These pictures were taken in 1903, in which year Mr. Walker graduated from the University of Georgia. He was one of the star members of the Georgia baseball team. The photos were furnished by a classmate.

Macon, May. May 19.—(Special.)—Although his doctors have steadfastly refused to hold out any hope for B. Sanders Walker, the banker and real estate man who is dying by inches from poison, he today maintained his cheerful demeanor until evening, when he told those who are staying constantly by him that "it is hard luck to die like this. I dont want to die. There must be some way to save my life." He was told again there was none.

This morning he asked how the University of Georgia baseball game with Georgia School of Technology, played Saturday, came out. Mr. Walker is an alumnus of the former institution. Although Tech won, he was told that his alma mater had been returned victor.

"That gives them an even break on the series, doesn't it?" he said.

May Owe Life to Unknown Nurse.

Surrounded by a corps of physicians and skilled nurses, Walker is today making a desperate fight for life, and it is only at times the doctors are admitting that he has a chance for life.

And the fact that he is alive today is due to a telegraphic suggestion from a young woman—a nurse in Johns Hopkins hospital—that a remedy of flax seed and olive oil might save the fast ebbing life of the dying man, as it had her own when she had been in a similar condition. If he lives, Walker will owe his life to a young woman of whose existence he was not even aware—a person whom he would not know were he to meet her face to face.

Suggestions as to the relief of the unfortunate man have been coming in from all parts of the country, and among them was the one from the Baltimore nurse, which it appears late tonight has given Walker a fighting chance for life. Euremic poisoning had already set in when the doctors decided to adopt the suggestion of the young woman, and unless relief had been immediate Walker would soon have succumbed.

Prayers Said in Churches.

Yesterday prayers were said in practically every church in the city for the recovery of the young banker, including both Protestant and Catholic, and the pathetic case was commented upon from the pulpits during the course of the sermons.

Nothing that has happened in years in Macon has so deeply stirred the city as the brave manner in which the wealthy and popular young business man has prepared to meet the fate which the doctors had assured him was a matter of only a day or so at the most. Universally liked, controlling property worth 700,000 or more, blessed with a loving wife and children, and a man full of life and energy, he has born up under the excruciating pain with the greatest fortitude—cheering his friends instead of making it necessary for them to comfort him

The friends knew him a few days ago as the picture of health, and a perfect specimen of manhood, can hardly realize that following his tragic error in taking bichloride of mercury tablets instead of the headache medicine he thought he was swallowing, he has been doomed to death, and that, although hope is now expressed for his recovery, he is even yet standing upon the brink of eternity.

Winds Up His Business Affairs.

Walker's first thought when told by the doctors that death was sure to result from his mistaken dose, was of his business; his second of his friends. He immediately sent for his business associates, and in a short while had given definite instructions concerning the final disposition of all his affairs.

Following the winding up of his business, he called in his friends, announced his decision and gave them one and all a cheerful farewell.

His cool nerve during the strain of the last forty-eight hours has been the cause of comment upon the days when, as a star athlete for the University of Georgia, he time and again demonstrated the fact that he was possessed of an indomitable spirit that held him up when his team mates were breaking in their support.

Reports from the bedside at an early this morning indicate that the hope for recovery is slowly, but steadily, growing stronger.

Mrs. Walker is making a ght that is the wonder of her friends. In her husband's company she has been ever brave and cheerful. Not once has she presented anything but a courageous front.

FOCTORS CRITICISE TREATMENT.

Washington, May 19.—(Special.)—Washington physicians have been keenly interested in the case of Mr. Walker, the Macon banker, suffering from bichloride of mercury poisoning.

While none of the physicians wished to be quoted as prescribing for Mr. Walker, it was admitted that the proper treatment in his case would be to administer emetics and purgatives, and then to have him drink large quantities of water, so that the poison might be diluted and weakened. This is in direct contrast to the treatment being followed in Macon, where, according to dispatches, the patient has not been allowed a bit of food or water since his condition was discovered.

Seven and a half grains of bichloride of mercury, the amount usually used in a tablet, would produce death in a much shorter time than four days, and a definite prognosis of death after a poison patient had resisted the effect of a smaller amount of the drug for that length of time would be fatal, according to Dr. W. C. Woodward, district health officer.

"For a man to live from Wednesday morning to the following Monday, after his system had absorbed 7 1-2 grains of bichloride of mercury, would be unprecedented in medical annals," said Dr. Woodward. "But it is possible that the patient in this case had medical attention before all of the tablet was absorbed."

LATEST REPORTS FROM ALL OF THE MARKETS

GOOD DEMAND CAUSED COTTON TO ADVANCE

Market Opened at Decline, But Prices Rallied and Closed Higher.

New York, May 19.—Reports of good weather in the south, and a more favorable average of private crop reports, caused an opening decline in the cotton market today, but prices quickly rallied and the close was steady at a net advance of 5 to 9 points.

The market opened steady at a decline of 2 to 4 points, in line with the showing of Liverpool, where there was continental selling, inspired by reports of beneficial rains in the south over the English holidays. There was some scattering liquidation and a little local or southern selling here at the start, but offerings were well absorbed, in spite of the improved crop news, and the market soon began to improve. The demand seemed to come partly from shorts, who were probably disappointed that offerings were not heavier, while there was also a moderate demand for new crop positions from trade interests with foreign connections.

The covering movement became a little more active as prices worked higher, and a few stop orders were uncovered above the 11-cent level. Their execution sent the active months 7 to 9 points above the closing prices of Saturday, with July cotton selling at 11.64 and December at 11.06. The demand slackened at this level and realizing by early buyers caused reactions of 3 or 4 points from the lowest, but the selling at no time was aggressive and the market closed within a point or two of the best.

Weather advices indicated generally clear and warm weather in the south, but with prospects pointing to showers within the next twenty-four hours which were not considered undesirable. A further sharp falling off was reported in the local stock of certificated cotton, which is now down to about 71,000 bales. Very little cotton is arriving here from the south to go into the local stock, and continued talk of a considerable July short interest leads to more or less nervousness as to the near month situation.

Cotton, spot, closed quiet; midland uplands, 12.00; do gulf, 12.25; sales, 300 bales.

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, May 19.—Cotton had a very ready tone on the opening session of the week. Bulls were not aggressive, but a moderately good inquiry for contracts was in evidence all day long, with the ring found difficult to supply. The gossip of the market gave various reasons for the rise that took place, some people calling the buying mysterious and purposeless. In some quarters it was claimed that standing interests were the largest purchasers and that the market was fast getting into a condition where the shorts and ex-contract would be held by speculators and the long end by consumers. This sort of talk, together with claims that a large part of the crop was getting a very late start because of replanting and that the eastern belt still needed moisture, led to a little buying, both of covers by shorts and of contracts for long account.

On the opening the tone was steady, with prices showing a decline of 3 to 6 points. Cables were also quiet, strong and dull. Later news from the cotton belt ever Sunday was called favorable on the whole. First prices were the lowest of the day. The detailed weather reports showed less rain than expected in the eastern belt and the forecast promised fair weather in the Carolinas. The market very gradually worked higher, selling late in the day at a net rise of 10 to 12 points.

The close was firm, 8 to 11 points over Saturday's final quotations.

Remarks.

In the past 48 hours scattered showers occurred in all except Charleston, Montgomery and Vicksburg districts. Temperatures have risen in the middle gulf and western districts.

J. B. HERRMANN,
Section Director Weather Bureau.

John F. Black & Co.

New York, May 19.—The bears looked for a break today on good weather over Sunday and poor cables. The trouble was that there was too many of them looking for the decline and anxious to buy on it. The market opened two to five down and at once showed strength, which it held to the close. The trouble with the short side of cotton just now is that every one has been talking big crop and selling cotton. The weather has been favorable and shorts have held to their commitments until the market is badly oversold. It looks as if the shorts would have to get out before the government report, whether they can see any profit or not. The close was steady with July up five and October eight points.

Liverpool is due to come 2½ to 3½ points up.

Cotton Seed Oil.

New York, May 19.—Cotton seed oil scored a good advance early on demand from May shorts and professional support, inspired by the strength in land and cotton. Afterwards the close, however, the list reacted under liquidation by scattered longs. Closing prices were 4 to 10 points net higher on old and unchanged to 2 points on new crop months. Sales, 15,800. Tenders, 500 barrels.

Prime crude, 5 94@6.00; do. summer yellow spot, 7.00@7.25. Prime winter yellow, 7.10, bid; do. summer white, 7.25, bid.

VISIBLE SUPPLY GAVE WHEAT PRICES A LIFT

Market Closed Firm at Advance of One-Eighth to One-Quarter.

Chicago, May 19.—More of a decrease than expected in the visible supply gave the wheat market a decided lift. The close was firm at an advance of 1-8@1-4 cent net. Corn finished 1-2 to 3-4 up, oats with a gain of 5-8@3-4 and provisions clearer by 7-1-2 to 35.

Falling off in the visible supply received emphasis from a cut of 519,000 bushels in Chicago stocks. It was in regard to the local end of the situation that shorts evinced chief solicitude.

Lightness of the May option speedily became pronounced and caused the option to lead the advance. There also was a big drop in the amount on ocean passage. The belief prevailed that some hard winter wheat had been sold here for export. For this reason, the ideal weather in the spring crop belt did not make as much impression as might otherwise have been the case. Seaboard clearances of wheat and flour today equalled 537,000 bushels. Primary receipts of wheat were 1,166,000 bushels against 556,000 a year ago.

Corn was strong from the start. Iowa points reported much corn land unplanted and the weather too cold. Nebraska, too, sent word of delayed planting.

Oats shorts bought on scantiness of moisture in Illinois.

Demand for provisions exceeded offerings. Packers sold sparingly and closing figures were at the top.

STOCKS RECOVERED PART OF EARLY LOSSES

In Second Half of Session Bears Covered and Favorites Advanced.

New York, May 19.—The particular point of interest in today's stock market was the acute weakness of a number of low-priced railroad stocks and bonds. St. Louis and San Francisco securities stood out conspicuously, with declines of 5 points for the coin mon and second preferred stock, 12 points for the first preferred, and nearly 3 points for the 5 per cent bonds. This preferred at 35 was also the lowest since the low record of 34 1-4, made in 1896, and the second preferred, touching 12, was at the bottom figure since 1897. Inquiries elicited no official explanation of the weakness of these securities. Rock Island shares also were heavy. In all, eleven railroad stocks touched the low prices for the movement.

The market in general held up well in the face of these declines, and of rather active selling for foreign account. There was some irregularity at the start, but bear traders, failing to make capital out of the drop in the low-priced railroad issues, covered, and in the second half of the session prices of the favorite stocks advanced generally above Saturday's close. Even the stocks which had previously been conspicuously weak, moved up with ease, and were recovered part of their early losses before the close.

The general situation today presented no new features. Apparently traders were awaiting the outcome of tomorrow's offering of $45,000,000 New York city 4 1-2 per cent bonds, and Chinese loan issue abroad. Bids for the city bonds from out-of-town banks were being received today by their representatives here. The response to this offering is awaited with unusual interest by bankers, on account of the discouraging outlook within recent months for new issues of corporate securities. It is hoped that this issue and that of the Chinese loan are attended with the success which is predicted for both of them, and the result may be to stimulate the investment demand.

Bonds were irregular, weakness of speculative issues off-setting improvement elsewhere. Total sales, par value, $1,618,000.

United States bonds were unchanged on call.

Treasury Statement.

Washington, May 19.—The condition of the United States treasury at the beginning of business today was:

GOVERNMENT ISSUES COTTON CROP FIGURES

Washington, May 19.—The area planted to cotton in the United States last year and which was under cultivation at the end of June, was 660,000,000 acres more than the department of agriculture estimated in its preliminary report in June. A special investigation was made by the department and, with the assistance of the census bureau's report on the quantity of cotton ginned, it reached the conclusion that the true planted was 34,766,000 acres, instead of 34,007,000 acres, the preliminary estimate. The area picked is estimated at 34,282,000 acres, indicating that the area abandoned was less than 1.4 per cent. The revised figures will be used by the department in making its cotton acreage estimates this year in July.

Revised estimates place the acreage yield at 190.9 pounds. Instead of 193.2 pounds, as preliminarily estimated.

Gibert & Clay.

New York, May 19.—With crop reports very favorable, following the general rains and higher temperatures throughout the south, the local market ruled about ten points higher during the greater part of today, under demand from the trade and short covering. The latter seemed to be influenced, in a great measure, by the light offerings, despite the good progress of the crop. However, it is too early for the new supply to be a weighty upon the market, no matter how favorable its promise, and consequently prices were easily when buying in fair volume appeared.

INFANTS, DYING, ARE ALL ELECT

Liberal Interpretation But No Amendment to Creed, Declares Southern Assembly, Reaffirming 1902 Action.

"All infants dying in infancy are elect, and it is not necessary to change the infant clause for the church to go on record for the truth we all believe," said Dr. Thomas S. Clyce, retiring moderator of the Southern Presbyterian assembly, and chairman of the committee on bills and overtures, when he introduced the report which precipitated a prolific debate, and placed the Southern assembly on record against the damnation of infant souls as a part of their creed, settling a question which, since the days of John Calvin, has been one of the disputed dogmas of Presbyterianism.

Adopting the report on the "elect infant" clause by the committee on bills and overtures by a vote of 135 to 44, the Monday morning session of the Southern Presbyterian assembly will go down to posterity as a history-making session, according to Dr. Clyce, who said:

Most Important Help.

"The public press will report your action of today, and if we strike out the hope and belief in the salvation of all infants dying in infancy, then those who have said the Presbyterian church teaches damnation of the souls of infants will have been given a club with which they will belabor us as never before.

"We do not believe that all infants are elect, but that all dying in infancy are elect, and thereofre saved."

The report of the bills and overtures committee had strong opposition from able speakers. The unanimous report of this committee, in answer to overtures from several presbyteries which asked that chapter X, section 3, of the Confession of Faith be amended, notwithstanding the fact that it had been before the church for a period of thirteen years, was carried, as read by the chairman, Dr. T. s. Clyce.

"There have come into our hands overtures from Albemarle, Muhlenbury, King's Mountain, Potosi, Wilmington, Concord, West Hanover and St. Louis presbyteries, asking that chapter 10 of the Confession of Faith be amended. We give answer as follows:

"In vie wof the fact that the question of amending this section has been before the church for thirteen years, and the church has not agreed on the form of language to be made, and in view of the further fact that the assembly of 1902 (Alexander's Digest Revised, page 8), declared that the holy scriptures amply warrant us in believing that all infants who die in infancy are included in the election of grace and are regenerated and saved by Christ through the spirit, which declaration we would here reaffirm. We recommend that no amendment for the present be sent down to the presbyteries.

"(Signed) T. S. CLYCE.
"Chairman Committee on Bills and Overtures."

Substitutes are Lost.

Several substitutes for the "Elect Infant" report were offered and lost. One was by Rev. H. M. Parker. The next substitute was urged by Rev. Frank McCutcheon, who urged for endorsing the language of the assembly of 1900 instead of 1902.

The defeat of one substitute after another, and repeated calls for the question indicated a sentiment for the resolution offered by Dr. Clyce, but Dr. Lyons, the moderator, would not be swayed from his pledge to give it who desired an opportunity to express their views.

"This matter has been a stumbling block for years," said Ruling Elder N. F. Walker, speaking for the ruling elder who wanted the elect infant clause eliminated entirely from the confession of faith, and advocated sending down such an overture to each presbytery.

"I have been called a 'Young Turk,'" said Dr. McPheeters, in summing up the conservative argument. "If I live to be 90 years old I will be a Young Turk. I have been called a progressive, and if I live to be 190, I will be a progressive. But I think the church is in danger of having its policies shaped, not by her, but for her, by those whose attitude towards the word of God is different than ours."

Dr. McPheeters lost his fight, but his final appeal was greeted with prolonged applause, as was the closing argument of Dr. T. S. Clyce.

"I want the 'elect infant' clause retained," said Dr. W. M Alexander "We are in danger of taking a rash action. I found this clause valuable as a Calvinist It is like a rubber ring good for baby Calvinists to cut their teeth on." And by a vote of over three to one the infant clause was retained and interpreted beyond all future misunderstanding.

The reversionary interest of the church in certain scattered properties was reported by the judicial committee which authorized the sale of such land. Endorsing the work of the past year, the committee on theological seminaries also recommended chairs of theology for several colleges.

Enemies of Fifty Years Ago Assembled Around Camp Fire - Discuss the Battle of Atlanta

Jolly and reminiscent was the gathering of "the blue and the gray" last night in the senate chamber of the state capitol. Several hundred of the old soldier boys, including many of the visiting Presbyterian delegates, who have come from all parts of the country to the assemblies in Atlanta, were present for the "camp fire" meeting of old foes and comrades.

Confederates and federals who had met in and around Atlanta 50 years ago in battle, mingled in the social gathering in fellowship and friendship. The meeting was held under the auspices of the Atlanta camp, No. 189, United Confederate veterans, and was presided over by T. J. Buchanan.

There were many touching scenes. A number of speakers gave thrilling accounts of their wartime maneuvers through the land they are now returning to with a smiling reception.

Among the most interesting accounts given was that of General R. N. Adams, of Minnesota, who has returned to Atlanta for the first time since he marched with Sherman to the sea in '64. General Adams, who is one of the prominent commissioners to the Northern assembly, has served for many years since the war as superintendent of home missions in Minnesota. DYNAMITE "PLANTING" IS CHARGED TO WOOD

Boston, Mass., May 19.—The commonwealth today laid the foundation of its case against President William M. Wood, of the American Woolen company; Frederick E. Atteaux, and Dennis J. Collins, charged with conspiracy to "plant" dynamite at Lawrence during the great textile strike of last year. While no evidence bearing directly on the alleged conspiracy was presented today, three witnesses testified to finding dynamite in the houses occupied by strikers. The proceedings moved swiftly.

The jury was selected in about an hour's time; the district attorney's opening address occupied less than thirty minues, and the testimony of five witnesses heard before adjournment. The district attorney declared that the evidence would indicate that the mill defendants conspired with John J. Breen, an undertaker of Lawrence, and Ernest H. Pittman, a builder, of Andover, to "plant" the dynamite to prejudice public opinion against the striking workers. He declared that the evidence would show that in consideration of services rendered during the strike Wood paid Atteaux $505 in March, 1912, and $2,100 three months later. He promised to introduce other evidence indicating that Atteaux gave money to Breen and that Breen, in turn, paid Collins.

Police Inspector Lynch, of Boston, testified that on the night of March 26 last, he served a summons on Ernest R. Pittman to appear before the Suffolk county grand jury the next day, and Charles H. Littlefield, Jr., of Lawrence, testified that Pittman shot himself on the morning of August 27. Facts attending the finding of dynamite at Lawrence on January 20, 1912, were related by Captain William H. Proctor and Officers Fred M. Flynn and Ernest S. Bradford, of the Massa-
